Tory Old-Guard In for Surprise At New Cabinet

Hat Trick Likely For B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Howard Green, Progressive Conservative member for Vancouver Quadra, said Tuesday British Columbia will have three ministers in the cabinet of prime minister-designate Diefenbaker.

"It looks like John is doing quite a thing, appointing three B.C. ministers," Mr. Green remarked to reporters just before he boarded an Ottawa-bound airplane at Vancouver's international airport.

(B.C. by tradition rates only one cabinet minister.)

He flew at the telephone summons of Mr. Diefenbaker, who also sent for Davie Fulton, member for Kamloops. Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, MP for Esquimalt-Saanich, often mentioned as a possible choice as defence minister, already is in Ottawa.

Asked if he expected to be a member Mr. Green said: "I expect I will."

Pearkes Can Take His Pick

By JAMES R. NELSON

OTTAWA (BUP)—Prime minister-designate John Diefenbaker is planning some surprises for the Tory old-guard in the formation of his new Conservative cabinet which he will announce Friday.

But Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, Tory defence critic before his re-election in Esquimalt-Saanich, has been offered any cabinet post of his choosing in recognition of General Pearkes' long-time loyalty to Mr. Diefenbaker.

Others in the old-guard of the Tory party may find that Mr. Diefenbaker was picking and choosing carefully, intent mainly on finding a group of younger, more energetic men, who would be able to grasp the multitude of problems in their departments quickly and effectively.

The motivating thought behind it is that the Difenbaker government has to put its new broom to work quickly and effectively, in preparation for another general election this autumn or next spring.

Diefenbaker himself was keeping mum.

'Backward' Nations Best, Says Chisholm

'No Neurotic Babies'

DR. BROCK CHISHOLM
. . . Nurses to blame

Infants with Mothers, Not Nurses' Playthings

Maternity and child care methods in the "backward" nations of the Far East are at least two years ahead of North America's, Dr. Brock Chisholm said last night.

The retired head of the United Nations World Health Organization told the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island convention at Sooke:

"They don't make neurotic babies" in the Far East.

He told of an official visit to a Pakistan hospital, on which he was "sidetracked" from a certain room until, after considerable persuasion, an official admitted it was "not quite up-to-date," and allowed him to enter.

Dr. Chisholm described it as the "most advanced maternity ward" he had seen anywhere.

"It was an ideal arrangement," he said. Newborn babies slept in slings suspended above the feet of the mother between extended bedposts.

"The children are with their mothers from the time they are born," he said. "The baby whimpers, the mother lifts her foot and rocks it. If it cries a second time, noting it is awake, the mother lifts it from the cradle to herself, the natural place for all babies.

"They don't make neurotic babies," he said. "The children are not kept under glass as they are in Canada."

In the "advanced" nations of North America, the child is kept away from the mother, with only short exceptions, until the time to leave the hospital.

"By that time, the mother is afraid of the cchild and the child is afraid of the mother. They're perfect strangers."

The "great difficulty" in Western hospitals, he said, are the nurses who want to "keep the babies to themselves for as long as possible."

"I don't think we should sacrifice the babies for the pleasure of the nurses," Dr. Chisholm said.

His opinion, he said, was not only his own but was in accord with an expert committee of the UN health agency that studied mother-child relationships.

"Our brilliant scientists have yet to catch up to the knowledge achieved instinctively in these other nations," he said.

Dr Chisholm, now retired and living in the Sooke district, reviewed his travels from his Geneva headquarters through West and North Africa, Pakistan, India, Ceylon, Thailand, the Philippines and Hong Kong.

"In many of these nations, the only ambition is to stay alive," he said, noting that two-thirds of the world's people suffer from malnutrition and half are continually hungry.

"The children of India do not play," he said. "They just lie down because they are sick and tired from the time they are born."

Island Will Face Grim Summer If IWA Walks Out

By DAVID FRANCIS

With the IWA and operators of British Columbia's $500,000,000-a-year lumber industry accepting the probability of a prolonged and paralyzing strike starting in about two weeks as almost predestined, Vancouver Island faces a rough summer economically.

More than half of the province's annual income comes from its forests.

Victoria's IWA Local 1-118, whose jurisdiction extends to Jordan River, the Malahat and Saanich Peninsula, has about 1,500 members.

With an average wage of about $1.85 an hour, these men

Sleeper Plunges 30 Feet

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 10-year-old West Vancouver boy who dreamed he was being chased and fell 30 feet from a roof outside his bedroom window at midnight is alive today because he landed in a flower bed.

"If he hadn't," said his mother, Mrs. Cecil Lowe, "he wouldn't be with us now."

Michael suffered a compound fracture of the skull and other injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowe had retired when they heard a noise and hurried out to find their son lying on the ground.

"He was screaming that someone had been chasing him. He went through the open window and down off the roof," Mrs. Lowe said.

Salmon Net Fishermen Go on Strike Saturday

The union wants four to seven cents more a pound.

Nanaimo Woman Testifies Despite Terror of Threats

Special to the Colonist

NANAIMO—A terror-stricken woman had to be helped from Nanaimo police court yesterday after testifying she and her son had been threatened with harm if they gave evidence in court.

Mrs. A. C. Clarke was supported by her son, Colin, and crown prosecutor Sgt. Miles McLeod.

Charged with attempting to obstruct or pervert the course of justice by using threats to prevent evidence being given in court were 18-year-olds John Charles Nelson and Edward Martin Lonsdale.

Both youths pleaded not guilty.

Mrs. Clarke said Lonsdale had threatened her. At the same time, she said, her son was grabbed by the arms and told that if he testified in an assault case he had laid against Duncan Hodges, the youths would "get him" in three days.

Another woman, Mrs. Mary Tait, who said she had been "dragged into the affair," told the courts that she, Mrs. Clarke and Clarke had been threatened by Lonsdale outside a downtown cafe.

Nelson, who told Magistrate Llonel Beever-Potts that he and Lonsdale were "just being inquisitive," was acquitted. Lonsdale was found guilty and remanded to Friday for sentence.

Bossies Kick Bucket

NOTTINGHAM, Eng. (UP)—Cows figuratively kicked the bucket and everything else within reach here to get the local dairy festival off to a flying start yesterday.

Officials were shocked. But then so were the cows.

The cows stood sedately by the milking machines until the mayor stepped forward and pressed a button to start the machines. There was a short circuit.

Royal Family Attends Huge Fairbanks Party

LONDON (AP)—Actor Douglas Fairbanks Jr. and his wife staged the biggest scoop of the Mayfair social season Tuesday night when they entertained the Royal Family.

More than one duchess was muttering in her tea cup.

The occasion was a spectacular coming-out party for Fairbanks' debutante daughter Daphne — but it was Queen Elizabeth and others of the Royal Family who got most attention.

Last week the Queen declined an invitation to the coming-out dance of lovely Nora Lyle, stepdaughter of the Duke of Bedford.

"I asked them all," said the duke, "but they (the Royal Family) were busy."

More than 350 guests went to the Fairbanks party, including Prince Philip, Princess Margaret and Princess Alexandra.

The Queen made Fairbanks a Knight Commander of the British Empire. This means he would be called Sir Douglas if he was not an American.

Fairbanks now is in the movie and TV business and his listing in Britain's Who's Who takes up 54 lines—18 more than Prime Minister Macmillan's.

It was believed the Fairbanks did not attend Tuesday's Royal Ascot race meeting.

Earlier it was reported the Queen was in a dilemma over whether to invite the couple into the Queen's lawn of the royal enclosure. Both have been divorced.

Mom Jolted Awake With Splitting Head

SEATTLE (AP)—Mrs. Mona Lee Crones, 22, awoke suddenly Tuesday morning with a terrible headache.

Bouncing on the bed beside her was her 2½-year-old son Greg, and near his hand a gun left by her husband.

At hospital, physicians found a bullet had entered Mrs. Crones' head.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

POLITICIANS have comparatively little to say to the press between elections. But there is a hard-working public relations man by the name of Official Sources who releases a lot of news.

He's a garrulous fellow. You see his name in the paper quite often. Official Sources said this. Semi-Official Sources (his young brother) said something else.

It's a kind of a family public relations firm. All the Sources boys keep running off at the mouth. Uncle Unimpeachable, cousin Usually Reliable, and the others.

If the Sources boys wont talk, Highly-Placed Informants, or Authoritative Circles are always good for a lively quote.

There's another bunch of fellows called Political Observers and Veteran Observers who know what is going on behind the scenes.

Veteran Observers and Seasoned Observers keep pretty busy around Parliament Hill nowadays, discounting reports and issuing denials and forecasts.

If the people have any doubts as to the truth of the political tidings they see and hear, names like good old Official Sources and Authoritative Circles will set their minds at rest.

* * *

Sad to note, however, quacks have got loose in politics. Some character who calls himself Reliable Reports, or just Reports, is scuttling around making a lot of wild statements. "Reports on Parliament Hill said today," the stories often start.

Who is this man Reports, anyway? I don't care whether he issues his statements on Parliament Hill or down in Hog Hollow. He'll have to hand over his credentials before I'll listen to him.

* * *

It's good to know who is talking. Unimpeachable Sources and Highly-Placed Informants—with names like those, you know where you stand.

The other day, unfortunately, I saw a story that was credited only to "Informants." It didn't say which one of the Informants. Another story had originated from Sources. What Sources? There was no way of telling.

This tendency may get out of control. When Sources and Informants start circulating Reports in Circles, reading a news story will be something like getting stuck in a revolving door, and going out the same way you came in.

Summer Grim If IWA Strikes

and women (some are employed in plywood plants) earn approximately $111,000 a week, and most of this is spent in Victoria stores.

On Vancouver Island are 12,000 loggers and lumber workers who earn at least $888,000 a week.

Both management and the workers feel justified in their positions.

Union officials point to the industry's basic wage of $1.59, constant over the past two years, cast an envious look at the 57-cent-an-hour boost won by electricians, the painters' 46-cent hike, the plumbers' 35-cent increase, and say, "We too want a raise — 20 per cent across the board."

"I don't blame them," admitted one Victoria lumber retailer who would be caught in the squeeze of a strike.

Management says the industry is suffering "the worst crisis since the war" and pleads inability to pay wage increases.

"The export market has flopped," a local lumber exporter said yesterday.

But operators' claim that the U.K. market is disappearing and the U.S. market declining is denied by the union.

NOT WORRIED?

"The word among the trade," according to a local retailer, "is that the operators are not too worried about the strike coming off. They could not care less as far as I can see."

In the United States, he continued, the operators seem to be welcoming a strike to firm the market.

However, this may be only a bargaining stand.

Meanwhile, lumber retailers reported booming sales as the construction industry stocked up supplies to continue work should a strike follow the government-supervised strike vote June 26.

A spokesman for Victoria Retail Lumber Yard Ltd. said sales were up about 50 per cent.

His firm, he said, had an inventory sufficient to last two or three months—at normal buying.

NO HOLDUPS

No large Victoria building projects are expected to be held up by a lumber shortage, unless a strike extends into the fall.

George Wilson, of Howe and Wilson, contractors for the $910,000 Solarium under construction at Gordon Head, said the firm has enough rough lumber on hand to complete the framing of the concrete for the structure.

Finished lumber and other materials on hand would not be enough, but that stage of construction would not be reached until late in the year, he said.

His firm's $220,000 addition to Margaret Jenkins School would be finished for opening of school in September, regardless of the strike, he said.

Danger in Over-Use

Curb on Tranquillizers Canada Doctors' Aim

EDMONTON (CP)—The Canadian Medical Association [illegible] the "dangers of the indiscriminate use" of so-called tranquilizers and will ask the federal government to declare these drugs — already out-selling aspirin — available only on a doctor's prescription.

The decision was made Tuesday in the CMA's general council — the 180-member parliament of the profession—where in addition a "broad general principle" also was adopted for possible negotiation and arbitration for doctors' fees in any national health insurance scheme or private plan.

SALES TOO HIGH

Dr. K. J. R. Wightman of Toronto said there already are 40 to 50 "ataractics" or tranquillizing drugs on the market in Canada and more are expected to appear soon. The sales "indicate far greater use of them than is necessary in the interests of national health."

A person taking them over a period of years could become an addict.

"The manufacturers claim that because of the lack of toxic effects, these drugs are just as safe as aspirin," he continued. "But there are more subtle and long-range psychological effects which certainly would be difficult to prove to the manufacturer."

Dr. Wightman, chairman of the CMA's pharmacy committee, said some provinces already have put the tranquilizers on the prescription list—he said he did not know which provinces—and this action on a national scale will be asked of the federal health and welfare department.

If this were done, the sales [illegible] "under-the-counter" sales in drugstores are halted and doctors "don't prescribe too many of [illegible]

Cancer Threat

London Haze Equal To 100 Cigarets

LONDON (AP)—Researchers hired by British tobacco companies say Londoners each day breathe as much of the suspected cancer-causing substance — benzpyrene — as they would get from smoking 100 cigarets.

Benzpyrene is one of the substances most frequently mentioned by scientists seeking to determine whether smoking is a major cause of lung cancer.

It is found both in tobacco smoke and in air polluted by industrial by-products and heavy traffic.

The researchers said they took samples of London's heavily-polluted air and of the less polluted air of a country town in the west. They reported:

"Measurements showed that the daily intake of benzpyrene from breathing of the west country town's air was equivalent in total volume to the equivalent in total value to the intake from smoking about 40 cigarets a day.

In London it was equivalent to 100 a day.

Crash Victim Handy to Help

Garth Drover, 20, of 558 Agnes, was admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital early yesterday with face injuries sustained in a traffic accident just outside the hospital.

At about 3 a.m. the police ambulance was called to the 800-block of Humboldt, where a car driven east on Humboldt by Mr. Drover had collided with a car parked on the street's south side.

Gallant Mountie Coming to Town

Cpl. H. M. C. Johnstone, R.C.M.P., will receive the George Medal from Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross Thursday at 4 p.m. in the vice-regal suite of the Empress Hotel.

Cpl. Johnstone, now N.C.O.-in-charge of the Qualicum detachment, won the award for his part in stopping a bank holdup in April, 1956, at Coquitlam.

In a gunfight with the men attempting to rob the bank, Cpl. Johnstone was wounded eight times. On his discharge from hospital, he was posted to Qualicum.

This will be the first time the George Medal has been awarded to a B.C. member of the RCMP. The award was announced last March in the House of Commons, when former Finance Minister Walter Harris said:

"The country always expects devoted, daring and courageous service from the RCMP, but some actions deserve special recognition.

"Corporal Johnstone's action was one such case."

The officer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Johnstone, of Selkirk, Man., are on their way here to attend the ceremony. His wife, Edith, will also attend.

Cpl. and Mrs. Johnstone have two children, one aged three years, and the other nine months.

Parts All Stolen

Makeshift Buses Kill Off Koreans

SEOUL (Reuters) — South Korea's buses, made out of stolen United States army truck parts, oil drums, and even beer cans, are causing a heavy death toll among passengers and pedestrians.

They explode on the highways, run down cliffs with broken axles and kingpins, dive into rivers with jammed steering gears, and crash into stores and houses.

In one recent eight-day period, buses killed or injured 164 persons.

The national police reported that in 1956 buses were involved in more than one-third of the country's 5,240 traffic accidents, in which 2,309 people were killed and 6,505 injured.

HOME-MADE

At hundreds of "assembly plants" scattered through the teeming back alleys of Seoul and Pusan, Korean mechanics build buses with hammers and acetylene torches as their sole tools.

Workers flatten the oil drums. Using torches, they cut the sheets into various sizes to form the exterior of a bus. Flattened beer cans are used freely for the interior bodywork.

No two vehicles are alike. South Korea has imported fewer than 25 buses since the outbreak of the Korean War in 1950. Yet in seven years, the bus fleet has grown to a total of more than 3,100.

All the chassis come from wrecked or stolen trucks. Engines, transmission systems and steering mechanisms are assembled or installed from whatever parts are available on the black market.

Ordinary, thin window glass is used, and this shatters into sharp pieces in an accident.

There are about 35 registered bus companies in the country, though most of the vehicles are individually owned. The owner of a bus provides his own driver, and the company pays the owner a certain percentage of the income.

In the case of an accident, the owner of the bus has to pay all compensation and other costs. Since no insurance company is willing to give policies to a bus or bus company, even a minor accident can make the owner bankrupt.

His Only Accident In 1,000,000 Miles

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 71-year-old man who drove 44 years and 1,000,000 miles without an accident was convicted in Assize Court Tuesday of criminal negligence.

He is Leonard Short, who was released on his own recognizance by Mr. Justice A. M. Manson pending sentence later. A 12-man jury added a recommendation for leniency.

Short's car struck Mrs. Joanna Mueller, 72, March 28. She died five days later.

Smarten Men Up

Sell Seasonal Styles Haberdashers Told

TORONTO (CP) — Three pieces of "hard sell" advice were given Tuesday to the manufacturers of men's sportwear and work clothing.

George Waldes of Long Island City, N.Y., told members of the National Garment Association of Canada at their annual convention that first the industry must promote fashion "obsolescence" on a seasonal basis in the same manner as women's apparel.

He urged manufacturers to concentrate on developing fashion trends rather than individual styles. Most important, he said, they must "kill off" styles which have reached the peak of popularity before the styles kill profits.

"Let's not kid ourselves," Mr. Waldes added, "the average man still thinks in terms of wear rather than style." The industry must sell him on fashion obsolescence which means using new styling to make existing garments outdated."

Dread Influenza In Vancouver?

VANCOUVER (CP) — A man who recently returned from a visit to Hong Kong is being examined to determine whether he has the dread Asiatic flu.

Dr. Stewart Murray, health officer, said yesterday blood samples and throat washings have been sent to the provincial health laboratory and will be forwarded to Ottawa for further tests.

Floods Threaten

Scorching Sun Sears Europe, Spreads Havoc

PARIS (Reuters) — Northern Europe sweltered under a scorching sun Tuesday while in Italy a general flood warning went out as the Po River spread death and destruction.

Villagers in the Alps worked to repair damage following days of rain.

A general flood warning was given in the Po delta as the level of the river continued to rise after four days of storms which have killed 17 persons, injured 100 and caused widespread damage to Northwest Italy.

Paris was one of the hottest spots in Europe, with temperatures in the high 80s. One man died of sunstroke and five persons drowned in the Seine River while swimming.

London's 82 degrees was the highest temperature in two years. The sky was generally clear over England.

In Switzerland, the big rivers were swollen by water from the mountains but no alarm was reported. The weather was generally sunny with temperatures near the 80-degree mark.

Part of the railroad running from Visp to Zermatt was blocked by a landslide from rocks loosened during the recent rains.

At Stockholm the heat wave broke and temperatures fell to 50 degrees. For the first time in almost three weeks, the temperature dropped in Eastern Austria to below 80. An acute water shortage was reported in Vienna.

In Copenhagen, 300 persons were taken to hospitals, with sunstroke. Thousands of trout died in streams through lack of oxygen in the water.

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario, blistered by a two-day heat wave, is due for relief today. Weather forecasters predict showers and thunderstorms will spell an end to the heat which has sent thousands of persons home from their jobs and schools.

But Quebec, from Montreal to Quebec City at least, will have to wait for another day to get the relief now in sight for Ontario.

Bear-Battler

Tom Kelly, 18, of Mara Township, Ont., fought a bear with his fists and lives. He fired a 12-gauge shotgun, wounding her, but the bear, with cubs close by, closed in and pushed him to the ground, clawing and biting. Young Kelly struck the bear with the gun and when she knocked it out of his hands, he hit her with his fists. Bear died suddenly on top of Kelly. Shaking and covered with blood, he made his way home.

U.S. Plans Radio Aids For Island

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — The planned construction of five tactical air navigation stations in western Canada — one on Vancouver Island — for use by Canadian and United States military planes was disclosed here Tuesday.

Maj.-Gen. Emerson C. Itschner, chief of engineers, U.S. Army, said the stations, known as TACAN, will be similar to tactical navigation units already in use by the U.S. Air Force in Alaska.

The total cost of construction, he said, will run between $100,000 and $200,000.

He described four of the stations as small, semi-mobile units. The fifth, to be built at Whitehorse, Y.T., is scheduled as the largest of the series.

Gen. Itschner said the planning for the Canadian TACAN stations was a co-operative venture between military officials of Canada and the United States.

Other TACAN stations will be at Fort Nelson, Sandspit and Port Hardy, all in British Columbia and at Namao, Alta.

Six Per Cent 'Far Short'

B.C. Civil Servants Asking for More

Provincial civil servants are pulling an Oliver Twist —they want more.

More, that is, than the average 6 per cent wage boost for the 14,000 B.C. civil servants which Premier Bennett Monday promised would go into effect July 1.

This raise is "a long way short of what is needed to bring us in line," said A. C. Bennett, assistant general secretary of the B.C. Government Employees' Association yesterday.

He said officials of the 11,000-member association would still meet the provincial cabinet Friday to press for higher wages, bargaining rights, and a 40-hour week.

And the strike vote being taken by the association would go ahead as planned, despite the premier's 11th-hour announcement.

Association officials met the cabinet earlier in the day, but only to confirm the premier's reported statements of wage increases for stationary engineers.

The proposed strike of 153 engineers was to have taken place June 26 but now has been called off.

George Dodsworth, president of the Psychiatric Nurses' Association, also said yesterday that the proposed six per cent raise was not enough.

Premier Bennett countered, however, that six per cent was only an average and some workers would get a lot more.

Mr. Dodsworth said he doubted that nurses employed in mental hospitals would accept the proposed increase.

Civil Service Retrenchment

PREMIER BENNETT'S announced determination gradually to whittle down the size of the provincial civil service may cause some concern within the service itself but is likely to win the approval of the taxpayers who have to foot the bill. One of the biggest difficulties of any administration, especially in times of prosperity and rapid expansion, is to keep the public payroll within reasonable bounds. It is easy to add employees to the staff but much harder to retrench without causing dissatisfaction and unrest. Yet unnecessary staff represents unnecessary taxation; and salaries are only part of the cost of maintaining a staff out of proportion to the work to be done.

The British Columbia government's decision to reduce the payroll was reached in conjunction with its agreement to raise salaries, so that reduction in numbers should match as nearly as possible the higher rates. Under the plan announced by the premier no one would be hurt in the process and the employment situation of the region would be affected little, if at all. In good times the turn-over in the civil service is a substantial factor, and this province is no exception. The government's intention is that as employees leave the civil service for other fields their jobs should be removed from the list.

In theory the total reduction in the payroll in a single year should be considerable. The government may find, however, that the rule cannot be applied inflexibly, and that circumstances must alter cases. While the work of departing clerks and others doing general duties may in many instances be satisfactorily apportioned among those remaining, there must be a numerical staff minimum below which it would be unwise to go in the interest of efficiency. Training also has to be considered. In the case of a small departmental branch it does not always follow that the work of a staff of, say, three could be handled adequately by two. The government's first duty is to give efficient service to the public.

It remains to be seen what savings Premier Bennett will be able to show at the end of the year. His formula is not new. Mr. St. Laurent as prime minister announced his government's intention to put it into effect several years ago. But the size of the federal civil service continued to grow at much the same rate as before. If Mr. Bennett can do better he will earn the approval of the taxpayers.

Jury or Judge?

THE dismissal of a Vancouver assize court jury from further panel duty because the judge disagreed with its verdict in a recent case is sure to provoke much discussion. For one thing it can be held to strike at the roots of the trial-by-jury system, and for another it could suggest that a jury must toe a judge's line. The merit or demerit of the jury's dismissal in this instance is of lesser importance than the fact itself. Court officials cannot recall any similar action by a judge, a circumstance indicative of its unusual nature.

Mr. Justice Manson had the power to dismiss the jury, but there may be some question as to his use of it. The jury system is well planted in Canadian jurisprudence. It means trial by an accused's peers, other men or women of similar status in society; not by a judge alone. It is the latter's duty to preside over the trial, ensure the fair and proper presentation of evidence and cross-examination, and guide the jury in his summing up. In the final analysis however it is the jury which renders the verdict.

In the present instance Mr. Justice Manson disagreed with the jury's decision, one of acquittal in a rape case. He indicated at the time that in his opinion the verdict should have been a different one. Now in effect he has punished the jury by severing it from further duty. Presumably since he was not satisfied with its verdict in one case he assumes it to be incompetent to sit on another.

This can scarcely be the end of the matter, for if established as a precedent—and precedent is far-reaching in jurisprudence—it could come to mean that a jury sits only by sufferance of a judge. If juries gradually became seized of the idea that they must please a judge, rather than decide on a case according to their own human good sense, then the basic impartiality of the jury system would collapse. It is better that a jury should now and then render a wrong verdict than that this should happen, no matter the more meticulous legal awareness of a court's presiding officer. It is with a jury that most people would be prepared to rest their fate in assize court.

Use for Mr. Pearson

ONE of the casualties of the federal general election which may be regretted in circles wider than partisan preference has been the loss in cabinet rank of a well-trained, able and popular United Nations' delegate in the person of Mr. Lester B. Pearson, retiring now as minister of external affairs for Canada. Re-elected personally in his own riding, Mr. Pearson cannot of course be a part of the incoming cabinet. On the other hand, his precise knowledge of United Nations' procedure, personnel and international communication has been—apart from all party policies—a valuable asset to Canada. At the United Nations' Assembly and in its committees he is a trusted man.

It would be a gracious gesture on the part of Prime Minister-designate Diefenbaker, after settlement of the more pressing problems of assuming the task of government has been achieved, if he were to propose the re-appointment of Mr. Pearson as a Canadian delegate to the United Nations. If such a proposal were made by the incoming government it might be accepted, while this gesture would be considered by many Canadians as an expression of statesmanship. While it is not for us to make dispositions on paper as to what the new regime should do with its appointments externally on behalf of the nation, there does seem here an opportunity which could well be examined in the light of the circumstances.

There is no precise means of knowing whether Mr. Pearson would wish to continue in the service of the country at Lake Success even in the capacity of a delegate under a changed administration. His complete identification with the United Nations, and his undoubted success at its deliberations on their day-to-day level however are some warrant for believing that such a gesture might please all parties. As against that, of course, Mr. Pearson may well see wider opportunities at home in connection with the regrouping of the badly scrambled Liberal Party.

Interpreting the News

Soviets' Youth Propaganda

By BERNARD KAPLAN
North American Newspaper Alliance

PARIS—Russia is suspected of planning to use the forthcoming mammoth World Youth Festival in Moscow as the kickoff of a vast Communist propaganda effort concentrating on Africa.

Western officials are disturbed by signs that Africa will draw the lion's share of attention at the "festival", the sixth of its kind to be held under Communist auspices during the past 10 years. Not only is this to be the biggest and most elaborate. It is also the first to be held in the U.S.S.R. All earlier confabs were staged in the satellites.

Delegations from about a dozen of the largest African youth organizations, ranging from Tunisia to Madagascar and by no means all Communist, already have accepted Moscow's invitation to attend the carefully organized meeting which is to begin July 28 and continue for a fortnight. According to Western sources here, this is by far the largest group of Africans ever to attend a Communist-sponsored conference of any kind.

Coming at a moment when several African lands have just emerged as independent nations and a number of others are on the verge of freedom, all of this is thought to represent a Soviet decision to step up markedly its propaganda and political activities in the dark continent.

One Western diplomat pointed out that Soviet penetration tactics in the underdeveloped regions of the world could be best described as a kind of "dial" hinged on Moscow which has been moving steadily westward during the past decade: pointing first toward Asia, then the Middle East and now Africa.

He expressed belief that "the check which has been dealt Soviet influence in much of the Middle East, at least temporarily, by counter-action has undoubtedly contributed to a decision to speed up penetration of Africa. So has the fact that the newly independent African nations are, for the most part, even more unsteady and lacking in firm institutions than are the Arab states."

Moscow Radio has devoted more comment in recent weeks to the African representation at the Youth Conference than to that of any other region, informants pointed out. Whereas in former years, the spotlight at such meetings was generally put on Asian delegations, this time it will be the Africans.

The Russians already are bragging that the Algerian delegation will include "students who have distinguished themselves in battle" — meaning as rebel fighters against the French. It is a sure bet that Russian officials will use their presence to underline their own support of the Algerian uprising. The gesture should stand them well in both Arab and Negro Africa where the revolt is enthusiastically favored.

Thinking Aloud

". . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

WHEN I was a little boy, and I must have been very little in those days — I remember being weighed and measured once and being humbled by the result, three stone twelve and four feet high—I was wont to think 30 miles was a tremendous distance.

It was too, for once a year I travelled that far for my seashore holiday and the train journey seemed endless. Now that I'm grown up, although still little in some ways I daresay, I don't know what to think.

Right now I am looking at solar system statistics. To be truthful what is in front of my eyes is a typewriter whose keys demand my full attention, but you know what I mean. All real writers put it that way and why shouldn't I share their fads.

So right now I am staring at the solar system; more particularly at the distance — in figures of course — between Pluto and the Sun. Pluto, I understand, is a planet, and at its maximum it is 4,580,000,000 miles distant from the sun.

* * *

Somehow my 30 miles seem insignificant when I note that, even if to me they are something I understand, Pluto I don't, and there are moments when I wonder if anyone else really does, notwithstanding they've managed to put a tape measure to it.

Incidentally I notice that the Earth is a mere 94,000,000 miles from the Sun, which makes one think we should be seeing more of it this month than we are. Happily the month has some days to run, however.

Distance of course has to be personal to mean anything. It is roughly 100 miles to Parksville, and if you set out to walk to that estimable village, which granted would be a queer occupation, the Island Highway would seem to be a terribly long road, not to speak of the current discomforts en route.

Once I walked 130 miles as the crow flies, although not being a crow there were some side trips on the way, but since it took me about a year I can't claim to have been unduly fatigued even though the highway was made of sand. Nevertheless I thought it a long journey at the time. Funny thing about that, too. Had I not walked those 130 miles I suppose I never would have driven or ridden, as naturally I now have, the 100 miles to Parksville. It was a war that made me heel and toe so far, and if there had been no war probably I wouldn't now be in Canada. And since I have been very happy in this land should I regret there was a war?

I don't know what to think about that, either.

* * *

Canada it was, as you will readily understand, which changed my perspective about distances. Once settled in the heart of the vast prairie West I realized that my 30-mile horizon was not to be mentioned even in a whisper. When the next nearest place of interest might easily be 60, 70 or double that number of miles away, a spur-of-the-moment decision to go there by car became the merest commonplace.

And so it is now in Victoria, even more so since six or eight cylinders can whisk mankind in sitting position 100 or 1,000 miles at any given moment. The automobile is the real magic carpet.

Even so, I am willing to agree, it may be an admission of weakness to talk about 30 or 1,000 miles when I am faced with Pluto's 4,580,000,000-mile span. It makes me feel like the little boy I once was, though I shan't ever be three stone twelve again. I suppose. Well, I have learned a lot since my school days, including the knowledge that 4,580,000,000 miles are beyond my ken entirely.

But it wouldn't surprise me one bit if the people who put the inch-tape to Pluto were also more at home with a distance of 30 miles.

Complexities of the Welfare State

By RICHARD L. THOMAS, Daily Colonist Correspondent

THE British Labor Party is taking both heart and fright from by-election results which show a very considerable swing against the Conservative government and which, in terms of a general election, could mean that the Labor Party would be returned to power. Labor interprets the decline in Tory votes as a gesture of confidence in Labor. This is only a half-truth—but it gives heart to a divided movement.

The fright comes from the thought that sometime before 1960 Labor may have to take office again.

Indicative of the trend is the statement of Sir Hartley Shawcross, a former attorney-general, who has declared that nationalization of such industries as Imperial Chemical Industries or Unilever would be a national disaster—but some Labor diehards with hope triumphing over experience really believe that another dose of nationalization would do Britain good. The trouble arises from the misreading of the electoral reaction. It would be a reasonable assessment to say that the electors are far from satisfied with the present Tory regime but that it does not necessarily mean they would prefer a Labor government which might well annoy them more.

* * *

The trouble with the present Conservative government is that it refuses to be conservative in the political sense; it is afraid of a bold free enterprise policy and all it has succeeded in doing so far is to water down the socialist policy inaugurated immediately after the war, and is still afraid of labor criticism. By British political standards it has a small parliamentary majority and that makes it nervous.

True enough there have been concessions; but they have been slight and largely ineffectual. There have been small cuts in taxation but almost all of these have been offset by other increases. The man who found that his income tax had been reduced by the equivalent of $10 was faced with an increase in railway fares amounting to $11. Sometimes his salary went up, which meant that he had to find more actual cash for income tax, more for electricity and gas bills and increased interest rates on his mortgage. Government concessions were never enough to make him feel really better off.

The evil genius of frustration will only be dispelled by bold imaginative moves—by genuine incentive and a sense of freedom. Until the cost of living has some resemblance to the economic facts of life the Briton will remain a discontented creature. The economic price of a motor car selling in England for £600 is less than £400—the rest is tax; the economic price of a gallon of petrol is 60% below the price at the gasoline pump. A glass of beer costs at least twice as much as the brewers wish—because of tax, always remembering that the citizen who pays for these things only has the residue of his earnings after paying income tax.

Under socialism this heavy incidence of taxation was justified as part of the socialist policy for the redistribution of wealth. We have now reached the point where many young people imagine they are conferring a favor on the state by accepting its charity in the form of education grants, medical care and all the other virtues of the welfare state. No doubt we have gone too far for any Conservative government to cut the painter—but there is no reason why there should not be substantial modifications of the trend. Unless there are there will be no end to the vicious circle.

At present the government is leading the way in increasing prices. Coal, gas and electricity—three essentials of industrial and domestic economy—are all nationalized and all going up in price. Transport — about 80 per cent nationalized—is constantly increasing fares and the income tax authorities persistently maintain their attitude that transport to and from work is not a legitimate expense in earning income. Interest rates, controlled by the government-fixed bank rate, have increased. So it goes on.

Minor concessions in income tax have been more than wiped out by increases in commodity prices. No attempt has been made to use taxation as a means of controlling inflation and maintaining stable prices. Transport increases would be unnecessary if only minor concessions were made in fuel tax. Industrial costs would be cut substantially if nationalized industries were made to function efficiently without the gross overweight of bureaucratic red tape—which almost invariably leads to more administrators than producers.

* * *

Of all adult wage earners in Britain, one in four is employed by central or local government agencies. In simple language it means that three producers have to provide enough to pay a fourth to control them plus the capital cost and the means for operating his office and equipment. It has been suggested, for example, that if all wages and salaries under the equivalent of $2,500 a year were freed from income tax the nation would save more in civil service salaries and costs than the tax yields—but because of the inbred socialist doctrine of "fair shares" they prefer the "justice" of spending $5 to collect $4. And "fair shares" has a hollow ring when it is realized that the millionaire pays exactly the same tax on a box of matches as an unemployed cleaner.

The present mood of the electorate should be interpreted as a challenge to the Tory government to do something about "setting the people free" rather than a desire to return to socialism. Bluntly the electorate is telling the government that it does not approve the present policy rather than that it approves of socialism. This reading is not lost on some of our more intelligent socialists who are now anxious to drop nationalization (which cost them the last election) and find some other platform which on present indications will be more of "something for nothing" in the form of half-pay pensions for everyone.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

A MAN'S brain can fail just the same way his liver can, or his lungs, kidneys, stomach, or any other of his giblets. As far as we know, his brain is his so-called "mind." For thousands of years there has been a notion amongst us, white men, Eskimos, Zulus and so forth, that the "mind" was a sort of seperate institution, maybe a nimbus, a sort of disembodied spirit that inhabited our bodies quite apart from any organ; though the brain was generally suspected of being its hiding place. This was deduced from the fact that if you clubbed a man on the head, the "mind" vanished more quickly than if you stuck him with a spear in the midriff.

But though we have worked the thing out now pretty satisfactorily, and are agreed that the brain is the "mind," we still are loth to admit that the "mind" is just another organ. We like to believe that it is something mystical, occult, obscure and enigmatic. It seems to offend our dignity to have to admit that it can be on a par with gallstones, or the liver with its sclerosis or the stomach with its ulcers. Imagine the mind with the mumps? Or measles? Or the itch?

A sad scandal occurred in our community lately when a most respected citizen was convicted of embezzlement. In his late fifties, he was the personal friend of many of us, was a church-goer and active member of service clubs and other activities. When some of us went to see him after the onset of the disaster, he appeared to be as thunderstruck as the rest of us. He could give no rational excuse for his crime, and he appeared to be almost as determined to establish his guilt as was the crown attorney. Some of us who visited him had ulcers, others had mild heart conditions, some were very bald, others had arthritis in their bones, all of us had false teeth, one was going blind. What might have happened in his case was that his brain was starting to fail.

And since the brain is the mind, and the mind is the custodian of such fragile and elusive quantities, or qualities as morals, ethics and the principles of behavior, it could be that he was suffering a little organic decline like the rest of us.

The clinic he went to, however, was prison.

Failure on Grand Scale

(From The Letter-Review)

WHEREVER socialism holds sway failure on a grand scale appears inevitable. Saskatchewan is a case in point.

Since taking office in 1944, the CCF government of Saskatchewan has invested some $175,000,000 of the provincial taxpayers' money in various experiments in state enterprise. This investment has been rationalized by the CCF government on the ground that industries so established would create jobs and result in diversification of the provincial economy, heavily concentrated in agriculture.

Yet today there are 67 fewer people employed in manufacturing in Saskatchewan than when the CCF party came to power. And socialized industries set up by the provincial government have either collapsed or are so badly in the red that their operations have to be heavily subsidized.

That such disaster could befall the Saskatchewan government's ill-starred excursions in state enterprise at a time when Canada has been experiencing unparalleled prosperity is a telling commentary on the failure of socialism.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

Statistics show that more and more workers are holding down two jobs. The extra money is nice, of course, but aren't four coffee breaks a day a little strenuous?

* * *

News that Elsa Maxwell and the Duchess of Windsor have made up their little spat must have been greeted with cries of joy by anyone who was aware they had had one.

A delightful aspect of the problem of atomic fall-out is that since hardly anybody knows anything about it, almost everybody can be an expert on it.

* * *

The need for experts to plan the growth of our cities is being emphasized. How much easier it was in the good old days when one simply hired a cow to lay out the streets.

Down the Drain

From the total election returns Premier Bennett and his henchmen can see no comfort now or in the future.

East of Manitoba Social Credit polled only 44,653 votes out of a total 4,505,462 votes cast, and east of Ontario the Socred vote was only 6,715. The Manitoba and Saskatchewan Socred vote was 81,272 with a total of 685,925 cast. Alberta Socred vote was 153,960 out of total 409,265 cast. B.C. Socred vote was 135,564 out of total 561,279 cast. The national total Socred vote was only 415,449 out of a grand total of 6,357,922 cast.

It will be seen from these figures that even in B.C. Mr. Bennett made a poor showing and much worse than the Socreds in Alberta.

And this after all the Socred ballyhoo and hundreds of thousands of dollars spent on travelling, printing, and advertising. One wonders where all the money came from that went "down the drain," including approximately $25,000 that was forfeited due to loss of Socred candidates' deposits.

Proud of Mr. Jung

Now that the shouting and ballyhoo are over I think notice should be taken of history as it was made last week. Mr. Jung in defeating Ralph Campney and entering the parliament of Canada certainly made history.

I am sure the many thousands who saw and heard this fine, humble, astonished young man as he appeared on the TV screen realized that here was someone who would some day make a name for himself and be a great credit to this country. Here was no braggart, no boaster, no maker of promises, but out of a sincere desire to do good, just said so.

We Canadians should be very proud today that such a person can become one of our representatives at Ottawa and show the world how our democracy works. I am quite sure we all wish him well and shall with great interest watch his progress in the larger life we have placed upon him.

Grotesque Sculpture

During a visit to your fair city I was able to view the 12 models (displayed in the Douglas Street window of Eaton's store) from which is to be chosen a winning statue in the centennial contest.

Although the centenary committee plans to have all the school children of B.C. donate dimes to cover the cost of the project one thing in the display was conspicuous by its absence—namely, a ballot box in which the children (and their parents) could be granted the democratic privilege of expressing their opinion as to the merit of a work of art for which they will have to finance.

As a personal matter of opinion, allow me to congratulate Charles E. Seyford of Victoria, George Norris of Vancouver, and Ollie Holmsten of Vancouver for their commendable efforts. Of the remainder undoubtedly the Victoria garbage-disposal department is overdue in collecting a heap of mutilated clay; but may the multitude raise up their voice in protest if any one of the grotesque nine should be dumped on the lawns of the beautiful legislative buildings.

A Distinctive Flag

The letter by C. B. Carlton in the Colonist of June 15 is an insult to all native-born Canadians, and any of us who adopted Canada and B.C. as our homes in the past.

I myself can't eat cereals of any kind, but shall certainly boost the makers of Shredded Wheat. Their calling for suggestions for a flag of our very own Canada is an honor for them. The demand for our own flag has been going on for years.

May I also suggest to him that the man who was voted in recently as the new prime minister is a native son, and he has a fine face and from what I know of faces he won't let Mr. Carlton influence him about our rights for a real Canadian flag. Our boys and their fathers, hundreds of them, fought in wars they did not cause and defended not only Britain but the Canada they loved, and if they have no right to their very own entirely distinctive flag, who has?

Seven Foxgord Cars Impounded by City

Under a city by-law prohibiting nuisances on the streets, the city engineer's department Monday impounded seven automobiles from a Queens Avenue boulevard.

The cars, which had been there for a long time, are the property of Leslie D. Foxgord, 1144 Queens. They were removed without advance warning—a step permissible under terms of the by-law.

City Engineer J. C. Garnett said yesterday that the vehicles may be reclaimed by their owner any time within 14 days, by paying the towing and impounding charges. After that period, they may be sold at auction.

This action is latest in a long series of court battles, in which city officials have repeatedly charged Mr. Foxgord with operating a junk yard without a licence.

Only last week Mr. Foxgord was granted a city licence to operate a second-hand shop following some debate by council because of the number of prosecutions against him.

'Take It Easy On Students'

BERLIN (AP) — Wladyslaw Gomulka of Poland was said Tuesday to be warning East German's Stalinist leaders to go slow in their crackdown on students and intellectuals.

The Polish Communist chief and Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz arrived in East Berlin earlier in the day.

Informants said Gomulka expressed the fear that repression of students and intellectuals demanding reforms might bring on an upheaval.

Astronomically, summer in Canada in 1957 begins at 8.21 a.m. PST, on June 21.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Truant Officer

Hookey Players Beware!

Hookey players will find things a bit more difficult during the coming school years, a truant officer will be appointed in September.

The Greater Victoria school board has decided a full-time attendance officer was required to combat the increasing amount of absenteeism in the district's schools.

The position will be advertised for September and carries a salary ranging from $4,200 to $4,800.

Duties will be to check on aggravated cases of absenteeism, meet parents and work with the health and welfare authorities, the school and the home.

The action followed the temporary suspension in April of several students who skipped school to work at the opening of a supermarket.

Some 12 junior high school boys also missed school while working for one or more parties on election day.

Pupils Are Friendlier Say Retiring Teachers

By JUDY GRAHAM

Two Oaklands School teachers who have taught about 1,000 pupils each since 1916 will retire at the end of this month.

Many persons in Victoria will remember Miss Helena Wheeler. Some may even recall being in her first Oaklands class 41 years ago in a two-room wooden annex on the school grounds.

One who should remember is Victoria's police chief, John Blackstock.

Miss Marion Kinnaird has been at Oaklands since 1929. She started teaching at McKenzie Avenue School, then moved to Royal Oak and Tillicum before Oaklands.

She also has a record of 41 years with Greater Victoria schools.

Miss Kinnaird plans to go to Europe next year and looks forward to being able to stay for as long as she wants instead of just two months during the school's summer holidays.

During the past 41 years, both teachers have watched the attitude of youngsters change and the recognition of teachers grow.

"There is now a feeling of friendliness between pupils and teachers. They seem to realize that we really are people and it makes teaching more enjoyable," said Miss Wheeler.

Miss Kinnaird is particularly happy about the teaching profession receiving more recognition than it did when she began.

"Teachers work very hard to keep up to date with methods and ideas in the profession and deserve recognition," she said. "Much credit is due to the formation and workings of the B.C. Teachers' Federation, of course."

Miss Wheeler, Miss Kinnaird and four other retiring teachers will be honored at a tea in the school board offices today.

Others attending the tea will be Mrs. Violet Taylor, from Sir James Douglas School, Miss Jessie Roberts, who started at South Park then moved to Victoria High, Miss Adah Hunt, who taught at Margaret Jenkins and Oaklands, and Vaughan Gilbertson-Pritchard, from Central Junior High.

Beach Cruise

Policemen Off Beat Save Girl

VANCOUVER (CP) — Whim that took two city police constables a few blocks off their patrol car beat Tuesday afternoon saved an eight-year-old girl from drowning at Sunset Beach.

The girl, Margaret Gorder, was dragged semi-conscious from water over her head by Constables Larry Gilbertson and William Simmons.

The dramatic rescue was carried out seconds after a rescue attempt by the drowning girl's companion, eight-year-old Sharon Schneider, had failed.

The constables heard cries from both girls and saw Margaret struggling in the water. They waded in up to their shoulders to rescue the girl as she was beginning to lose consciousness.

She was taken to hospital for observation.

Constable Simmons said he and Gilbertson drove a few blocks off their regular "beat" to cruise past the beach, and saw the girl floundering in an unpatrolled area near Burrard Bridge.

"We got to her just in time," said Simmons. "Her head was under water. Only her arms were visible on the surface. If we hadn't happened along, she'd be dead."

First Election Pledge

End of Closure Tories' Target

OTTAWA (CP)—Abolition of the Commons closure rule is expected to be among the first election promises John Diefenbaker will attempt to carry out.

The prime minister-designate understood to be determined to [illegible] government majority can limit Commons debate.

The promise to do so was included in the opening speech of his campaign and repeated periodically during the weeks that followed.

The Liberal government's use of the rarely-applied closure weapon was a feature of last year's bitter pipeline debate. The device was used at all four stages of the pipeline bill's passage through the Commons.

The closure rule, adopted in Canada before the First World War, had been used previously on seven occasions, the last time in 1932.

OTTAWA (CP)—A by-election in Lanark to fill the Commons vacancy caused by the death of Dr. William G. Blair will be held as soon as possible, it was learned Tuesday.

Speculation on Parliament Hill has been for Aug. 19 and 26, both Mondays, as possible by-election voting days.

Dr. Blair, 67, considered a shoo-in as health minister in a Conservative government, died of a heart attack last Sunday, less than a week after his election June 10 to a fourth term as MP for the Eastern Ontario constituency.

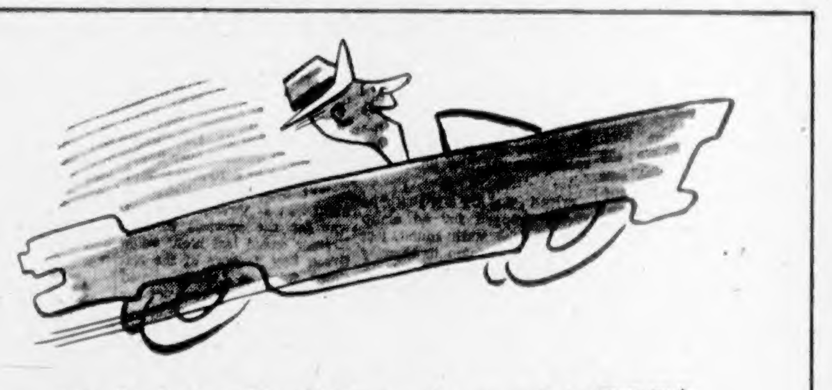
Car lost its pep ?



Switch to Shell Premium with TCP* and restore lost power while you drive!

How can a gasoline bring back power your engine has lost? Only by overcoming the cause! You see, most engines lose power as a result of certain deposits which form on spark plugs and in combustion chambers. In fact, engineers agree that these deposits are the major cause of power loss in modern high compression engines. (Even a new engine can lose power within 3,000 miles.) But TCP in Shell Premium Gasoline neutralizes these deposits while you drive—brings back the power your engine has lost.

VIEWS OF SPORT

By Red Smith

The way it looks from here, the Giants had to improve their ball club and the Yankees wanted to improve their behavior. This is not to imply that Billy Martin is the sort of guy whose continued presence in Yankee Stadium would have corrupted his playmates, yet it would be difficult to believe that the deal which [illegible] mangelwurzel in the Copacabana.

Ever since Martin's 29th birthday when he and his pals cut a rhubarb-strudel instead of a cake, the Yankee players have been jittery, dangling grotesquely on tenterhooks pending arrival of the deadline for trades. Now the hour has struck, and the fate they all were dreading has happened to that combative parcel of gristle and whalebone, the go-to-hell guy of the New York infield.

It was the players' nervous uncertainty about the future which accounted for management's timing and manner of exacting fines from the Copa Cutups. Once the Sleepless Six were overheard reciting "Curfew Must Not Ring Tonight," they were perfectly aware that disciplinary measures would follow. There had been unequivocal warnings to this effect in at least two clubhouse meetings since spring training opened.

Management was disposed to defer action but Casey Stengel detected the uneasiness of the players worrying about what form the punishment would take—fines, suspensions, trades. To put their doubts at rest he insisted on the meeting in his office where the offenders were told they would be fined.

Man For Man

Evenidently, however, this was not as effective as the manager hoped. Uneasiness persisted until the trading deadline arrived Saturday midnight.

Although four employees of each club changed uniforms, the trade can hardly be regarded as an even exchange of talent. Kansas City probably can make immediate use of all four of the new Athletics—Martin and the other infielder, Woody Held; Bob Martyn, the outfielder from Richmond, and Ralph Terry, the bonus pitcher.

Three of the four acquired by the Yankees have been assigned to the minors—Jim Pisoni and Ryne Duren to Denver, Milt Graff to the Richmond infield. From the New York point of view it's a man-for-man swap of Martin and Suitcase Simpson. A man attempting a dispassionate comparison might call Simpson a useful player, Martin a competitor with intonations of immortality.

Simpson, in his 33rd year, is almost four years older than Martin. He came up with impressive credentials, a .323 hitter who batted in 156 runs and made 33 home runs for San Diego. He had played only two seasons in the minors but before that he had made his way up from the Atlanta sandlots to the Philadelphia Stars of the Negro National League. Six seasons have passed since he reached the American League, and although he managed to bat an even .300 last year and .303 in 49 games this year—fame has eluded him.

Born to Play

No Simpson ever got his name in a World Series box score but that of Alfred Manuel Martin appears prominently in the records: Most hits in a six-game series—12; Most runs batted-in, six-game series—8.

There are other records that don't appear in the book—most hair-raising game-saving catch by an infielder, most unwise and futile dash for the plate with a worthless run, most abrasive clubhouse remarks about the opposition, and so on.

"Born to play ball" has got to be a fairly corny line, but it describes Martin, a restless, self-assured battler who gives no quarter. Even as a kid in high school he had no interest in the world save baseball, and an English teacher who recognized this brought him a book to read while his classmates were learning; as long as he was certain to flunk the course anyway, she reasoned that he might as well occupy his time to some profit.

By happy circumstance, the book she chose was "Lou Gehrig, a Quiet Hero," by Frank Graham. If this is the only volume Billy Martin [illegible] got all the way through, it was a richly appropriate choice. A baseball book, about a Yankee.

Safety in Numbers

Time may or may not demonstrate that the Yankees needed some shock treament like this deal to prod them into the sort of performance which should be normal for a squad with their endowments. What the Giants needed was ball players.

To get Ray Crone, Danny O'Connell and Bobby Thomson, they had to pay. So they gave up Red Schoendienst, aware that this might be the deal that would win a pennant for Milwaukee. Though Fred Haney had only the highest regard for O'Connell when they were together with the Pirates, the Braves have never been satisfied that Danny was the second baseman needed for a championship team.

Reluctant as they may have been to part with Schoendienst, the Giants did get three players for one, and all are men they can use. They're not going to win a pennant, anyhow, and as for the influence Schoendienst may wield on the National League race, Mr. George R. Tebbetts, of Cincinnati, offered a comment yesterday:

"This," he said, "might make us just mad enough to do better."

Slump-Plagued Snider Sued For 1954 Home-Run Failure

Duke Snider, Brooklyn centrefielder who is having one of his worst seasons at the plate, is being sued for $75,000 because he is "an expert with a bat and a home run artist."

A Cincinnati woman, Mrs. Dovie Green, is seeking the above sum in a damage suit because she claims she suffered a broken left arm and shock when a foul ball off Snider's bat struck her on June 13, 1954.

Snider, her charge claims, "wobbled and swayed his body in such a manner as to cause the ball to take a wild course other than a home run."

This was a change from the original complaint, which charged Snider "so negligently swung and controlled said bat to foul like an unguided flying saucer into the air and into spectators, striking plaintiff."

Semi-Final Match Set In Club Meet Tonight

First finalist in the annual tennis championships at the Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club will be known tonight after the match between defending champion Sharon Whittaker and Diana Lawrence, promising junior.

Myrla Petersen and Pam Ferguson, the other semi-finalists in the ladies' singles, will play tomorrow night.

Last semi-finalist in the men's singles will also be known tonight with defending-champion Ron Mitchell meeting Keith Taylor in the last of the quarter-final matches.

Winner will meet Warren Cameron in one semi-final on Friday. The other semi-final, between Ted Smythe and Gordon Hartley, will be played tomorrow night.

Tonight's draw follows:

5:30—S. Whittaker vs D. Lawrence; R. Mitchell vs K. Taylor; J. Coser vs G. Bishop.

6:00—W. Cox and J. Woolison vs. P. Ferguson and M. Petersen.

6.30—D. McCormick vs. W. Browne-Cave.

New York Yankees may have given up more than they realize when they traded fiery Billy Martin to Kansas City. A knock-'em-down-and-drag-'em-out type, the scrappy second baseman has the knack of coming through in the clutch. In first game against old team on Sunday, Martin clouted go-ahead home run (top) and played flawlessly afield, but it wasn't quite enough as Yanks won, 8-6, in 10th inning. (See Views of Sport alongside for more about trade.)

Timbermen Play Shamrocks For Lacrosse Lead Tonight

Leadership of the Inter-City Lacrosse League will be at stake at Memorial Arena tonight when Victoria Shamrocks and Canadian champion Nanaimo Timbermen meet for the fifth time this season.

Both clubs have won eight of 14 games played and the score between them is 2-2, both winning both games on their home floor.

Timbermen will have Fred Fulla, their all-star goalkeeper, back in action for tonight's game.

Nanaimo	14	8	6	161	160	16

Vancouver	15	6	9	141	150	12

Last night's score: New Westminster 10 at Vancouver 6.
Next game: tonight, Nanaimo at VICTORIA.

Fulla joined the club last week after sitting it out for the first part of the season. He saw no action Saturday but injuries to Alf Shuker suffered in an automobile accident will almost certainly bring Fulla back tonight.

BARRY HERE?

Timbermen also expect to show Barry Ashbee, younger brother of their veteran ace, in his first game. The younger Ashbee reportedly arrived in Nanaimo on Monday.

No word was available last night on whether or not starry Derry Davies would be ready to play. He has been out with an injured ankle.

Shamrocks will use Bill Bamford and Jack Howse and Lou Landess and Jack Northup as defence combinations in front of goalie Geordie Johnston.

Up front, the high-scoring Bradshaw-Dobbie-Bionda line remains intact. Don Sherry will play on a line with Al Gill and Ed Kowalyk and Art Green, Bert Bertoia and juvenile Bob McKee will form a third unit. Al Davies in the extra player.

MOVING UP

Last night at Vancouver, New Westminster Salmonbellies won their third in a row, beating Pilseners, 10-6, to drop the Vancouver club into the basement.

Salmonbellies are only two points behind the co-leaders, and two points ahead of Pils.

Pils trailed, 2-4, at half-time, then lost all hope when Salmonbellies outscored them, 5-2, in the third quarter.

Loose-limbed Billy Jobb led the winners with three goals while Cliff Sepka chipped in with two and an assist. Norm Usselman was the only Pilsener able to beat a solid Stan Joseph more than once. He did it twice.

It was the third straight loss for the Lumbermen, who were beaten, 9-8 and 9-1, by Half Way House in Duncan Sunday.

Sluggett blanked Duncan until the eighth inning when he gave up three singles and both runs. He struck out six and walked two.

Three of Arrows runs came in the third inning, all unearned. Second-baseman Bob Smith dropped a pop fly with two out and bases loaded, and all three runners scored.

Shantz Story Baseball's Best; Wins Eighth as Yankees Close

Stan Musial and Ted Williams are great veterans having great seasons, but this season's most heart-warming story is being written by Bobby Shantz, a little southpaw with a big heart who may turn out to be the best thing that has happened to the New York Yankees since a scout found Mickey Mantle.

Nearing his 32nd birthday, Shantz has apparently recovered the glory that was his in 1952, when he won 24 games and lost but seven with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Four years of heartbreak followed that great season as Shantz fought a seemingly losing battle with a sore arm. The Yanks took him on the chance that he might help them as a relief-pitcher when they obtained Art Ditmar from Kansas City in a big trade.

Ditmar was the man they were after but Shantz has been the pitcher they thought Ditmar would be.

Revelling in the new experience of having a strong supporting cast after years of toiling with the have-nots, Shantz wasn't long in convincing manager Casey Stengel that he rated a starting berth. The veteran has been so good the champions have hardly missed Whitey Ford, their ace who has been out of action for some weeks.

Shantz won his seventh in a row last night, beating Detroit Tigers for the ninth consecutive time since 1950.

He didn't have much working margin as he boosted his record to 8-1 for the season. The Yanks couldn't do much with Billy Hoeft and barely scraped through, 2-1.

Making victory all the more palatable was the fact that rookie Bobby Richardson, who took over for Billy Martin at second base, batted in both New York runs.

With Chicago White Sox losing by the same score to Baltimore Orioles when ace Billy Pierce walked three men in a row to force in the winning run, the Yankee triumph moved them within two and a half games of the lead.

Kansas City also drew another dividend on their swapping with the Yankees. Rookie right-hander Ralph Terry, obtained in the deal for Martin, made his first start for the Athletics a 2-0 shutout over Washington. Virgil Trucks came in to strike out the last man for Terry after two ex-Yanks, Lou Skizas and Vic Power, had homered for the Kansas City runs.

But a trade had a different ending for the Milwaukee Braves. Ray Crone, traded to the New York Giants with Danny O'Connell and Bobby Thomson for Red Schoendienst, stopped his ex-teammates without a run in six innings of relief pitching. The Giants came on to win, 5-4, with three runs in the sixth inning.

With Philadelphia Phils and Brooklyn Dodgers winning and St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds losing, it left the Braves in front of the first three clubs by a game and the Reds two games out.

Don Newcombe, apparently back in last season's form, handed the Reds their eighth defeat in nine games, 7-0. It was the third shutout and sixth win of the season for Newcombe, who helped himself at the plate by batting in two runs with a homer and double.

Pittsburgh Pirates, who seem to play their best against the top clubs and fall flat on their faces against lowly opposition, plowed the Cardinals under, 8-1, as bonus-pitcher Art Swanson turned in a four-hitter in his first major league start.

Two home run blasts carried the Phils to a 7-6 win over Chicago Cubs.

Rip Repulski hit a three-run homer in the fourth inning and rookie Harry Anderson hit a grand-slammer in the fifth to do all the damage. Jim Hearn pitched one run baseball in five relief innings to get his first win of the season.

Prior Pitches Two-Hit Game

Farmer Construction again got a great performance from its pitching staff last night and moved into a three-game lead in the northern division of the Northwest Semi-Pro Baseball League with a 4-3 victory over Burnaby Athletics.

Veteran Bill Prior, enjoying one of his best years with Farmers, stopped the Athletics on two hits and Art Worth, another pitcher taking a turn at first base, drove in the winning run with one out in the bottom of the ninth inning.

Both hits off him came in the fourth inning, when the Athletics scored all three of their runs to take a 3-1 lead. Pete Ash led off the ninth with a single. Jim Harford was safe on an error and both runners advanced on a sacrifice. Charlie Boyd walked, and Worth wrapped up the game with a clean single to right field.

Farmers collected seven hits off Stan Dagneau. Shortstop Mike Hodge continued his recent surge at the plate with a single and a double that drove in the tying run in the eighth inning.

Young Port Alberni Angler Wins King Fisherman Prize

Gail Davis, a 12-year-old angler from Port Alberni, is the winner of the main hidden-weight prize for May in The Daily Colonist's King Fisherman contest.

Daughter of Ed Davis, well-known Alberni sportsman, Gail boated a five-pound, six-ounce spring salmon while fishing from Clayton's Fishing Camp at Northwest Bay on May 25.

Gail wins a Wolverine sleeping robe and an air mattress, donated by Edward Lipsett Ltd.

Winner of the second hidden-weight prize for May was Eric Scott of 2245 Windsor. A two-pound, nine-ounce bass caught at Elk Lake proved to be a lucky fish for Mr. Scott. He elected to take a glass coho rod as his prize in preference to a spinning reel.

A fisherman from the Campbell River area was the winner of a Burgess Lamp. He is Andrew Olson, who entered a six-pound spring salmon he caught while fishing off Ripple Rock on May 15.

Other prize winners in May were Len Humber of 1435 Westall and George Wales of 1245 Basil.

Mr. Humber, whose winning entry was a [illegible]-pound spring salmon caught off James Island and weighed in at the Oak Bay Boathouse, wins a 14-piece camping kit. Mr. Wales, who won with a 14-pound, one-ounce spring caught in Saanich Inlet and weighed in at the Anchorage Boathouse, won 600 feet of Monel wire line. He'll use it to rig a second rod and double his chances of success.

Hidden-weight prizes are offered for each month during which concludes on October 15, and size of fish is of no importance in this phase of the contest. If they are salmon, they have to weigh at least five pounds and trout and bass have to weigh at least one pound. All, however, must be caught by subscribers to win the hidden-weight prizes.

Sark in the Channel Islands is noted for its picturesque cliffs and ancient caves.

Second Cast with New Rod Nets 14-Year-Old Top Bass

Fourteen-year-old Doug Fieldhouse of 196 Crease Avenue is the new leader in the bass division of The Daily Colonist King Fisherman contest.

Trying out a brand new fly rod at Beaver Lake on Sunday, Doug didn't have to wait long to put it to the test. His second cast brought a strike and he made no mistakes as he brought it to net. Weighed-in at Sadler's store, it tipped the scales at five pounds, three ounces.

That was two ounces larger than the bass entered in May by Robert Copley, who made his catch in Prospect Lake.

If Doug's fish should remain the largest bass, he will win the handsome King Fisherman Trophy for its division and the prize that goes with it — $100 worth of products from the nearest Imperial Oil dealer.

Doug is a little young—"about two years"—to be a car-owner but he feels that he can make a satisfactory deal if he should prove to be the winner.

TOUGH AT HOME: Victoria's leading golfers were nosed out of the mid-Island and Zone 1 championships at Nanaimo Sunday when local expert Hank Galbus took the double honor with exceedingly good rounds of 65 and 69 for a total of 134.

Hank has been Nanaimo's leading golfer for a span of years, and on his own course he can take on the best. Among his victims in exhibition games at Nanaimo is Joe Kirkwood.

On Sunday, Laurie Kerr, the new Victoria city champion, made a valiant effort not only to add two more titles to his collection, but also to stake a claim to a place in the Willingdon Cup team.

Kerr, however, finished two off pace at 136, with another Colwood man, Tommy Harris, third at 140.

Neither Bill McColl, last year's winner of the mid-Island championship, nor Bob Fleming, winner of the Zone 1 championship, were on hand to defend their titles.

However, I hear Fleming intends to take part in the Cowichan Open, Monday, July 1.

MIDSUMMER MADNESS AT OAK BAY: Coinciding with the longest day, the Victoria Club this year stages its famous "Dawn Patrol" tomorrow.

Play starts at 5, and by use of several tees, everyone will be in play within a few minutes of sunrise. Eighteen holes will be played and everyone will be in the clubhouse for a hearty breakfast in time to get to their work as usual.

Here is the draw and starting times: 5.00—D. Fosbrooke, K. Olsen, J. Gibbs, J. Bramley; 5.04—R. Wood, C. Wilson, N. Bamford, E. Hall; 5.08—J. Galbraith, H. Simpson, A. McCabe, J. Wintemute; 5.12—J. Brown, R. L. Challoner, W. G. Chambers and H. Young.

SENIOR BUTTONS CHANGE LAPELS: New holders of the city senior buttons are Dr. Gill and George Goodwin of Royal Colwood. They beat the holders, C. N. Montague and Basil Porritt of Uplands, at Colwood yesterday by one hole. George Goodwin sank two long putts on the 17th and 18th to settle the keen fight.

* * *

POPE TAKES THE CANE: The Victoria Golf Club's Walking Stick which has been "lost" for the past eight years is back again in circulation.

In the first challenge match since 1948, Les Pope beat the holder, Dick Field, by one hole.

GORGE VISITS U.S.: Gorge Vale Golf Club is taking a strong team of 24 to Port Angeles Sunday to meet the local club at their sporty nine-hole layout.

* * *

GOOD PARTNERSHIP: The Victoria Golf Club met with its usual defeat in the annual match with Seattle, but the Oak Bay players took some of the limelight over the lovely Seattle Club course on Saturday.

Gordon Verley and left-hander Cliff Horwood made a hot pairing, and their best ball was seven under par.

* * *

DONALDSON BEATS BODEN: The Gorge Vale handicap championship reaches the semi-final stage this weekend. In last week's quarter-finals, the feature game between Harry Donaldson and Norm Boden went to the 20th before Donaldson got his nose in front.

* * *

BOUND FOR VANCOUVER: The entry of 34 for the city junior and Zone 1 championship at the Uplands Saturday was higher than usual, and as it took an extra round to settle the winner, competition was keen.

In the extra round Sunday Bill Wakeham shot 83 to Noel Dalziel's 85. Both these lads will go to Vancouver to represent the district in the B.C. junior championship June 28.

* * *

GORGE ENTERTAINS STUDENTS: Gorge Vale Club threw open its course without charge to the S. J. Willis Junior High School for a school competition Monday. Most of the 30 youngsters taking part had been receiving lessons from Joe Pryke. Enthusiasm is running high, and it appears that the efforts to interest youth in the game are beginning to bear fruit.

Stock Prices Dip Sharply Then Rally

TORONTO (CP)—One of the sharpest declines of the year was averted Tuesday on the stock market as fresh buying appeared in late-afternoon trading to reduce most losses by as much as one-half.

Industrial losses ranged to two points, led by McColl at 81, Trans - Mountain Pipe Line, Crown Zellerbach, International Pete, U.S. Ford, B.A. Oil and Interprovincial Pipe Line were the other heavy losers.

Uraniums were among the heavier-losing lower-priced lines. Norhspan dipped 45 cents and Stanrock was off 3 cents. International Nickel lost 1½ points and Hudson's Bay a point.

A few western oils showed sizeable gains but most were loser. Security gained 35 cents at 5.30 and Canada Southern Pete advanced 20 cents to $7.45. Fargo was off 50 cents at $7.10. North Canadian lost 25 cents to $5.50. Triad, General Pete A, Canadian Atlantic, Britalta and Central Del Rio were all 15 cents lower.

Oil Stocks Drift

MONTREAL (CP)—Selected issues declined Tuesday on the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges.

Oils featured a number of big losers.

Aluminum reached a new top of 46¼ up ½.

Steels were depressed.

Mines and oils were mainly lower. Canadian Atlantic Oils dropped 60 cents and Central Del Rio was off 35. Burnt Hill fell 13. ISO Uranium slipped 5. Higher stocks included Jupiter, ahead 71 cents.

Coppers Depressed

NEW YORK (UP) — Stocks lost around $1,000,000,000 in valuation in a moderately active session.

The loss was wider at mid-session but the decline attracted some new buying and prices came back from the day's lows.

There was little in the news to sway prices except softness in copper prices abroad, a factor that brought in some selling of the copper shares here.

At the lows International Nickel was off 3⅜, Anaconda off 2½, American Smelting off 1¼, Magna Copper off 2¾, and Cerro De Pasco 1¼. Aluminum issues dipped fractions.

There were offsetting strong spots. Lukens Steel ran up to a new high at 116¼ up 5⅞ points and Eastman Kodak at its high of 113, a new top, was up 5¼ points.

Among the wider losers at the lows were Newmont Mining, Fairbanks Morse, Schering, U.S. Smelting, and Briggs Stratton, off 2 or better.

Boundary Lake Promising

B.C.'s First Big Oilfield

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Boundary Lake, which runs through the B.C.-Alberta border, is shaping up as British Columbia's first big oilfield.

Work already done in the area by two big teams indicates that the field covers 20,000 acres, and according to the Calgary publication Oilweek, it may eventually expand several times that size.

So far it has been limited only to the north and west by three widely spaced dry holes.

The Texaco-Shell team made the first discoveries in the field away back in 1955, but the interest in the area has been stepped up recently by the Imperial - Pacific team which is now reputed unofficially to have eight producers to the south of the discovery.

Oil on a 10-mile front comes chiefly from the Triassic and although the payzone is shallow—about 10 feet—its porosity and permeability are said to be excellent.

* * *

DIVIDEND TOTAL DROPS

Because Imperial Oil is now paying quarterly instead of twice a year, the total of dividends paid by Canadian companies in June was below the June record of 1956. Otherwise the total would have been above that of a year ago.

The June total is $91,248,292 according to the figures of J. R. Timmins and Co., investment brokers, against 92,199,914 a year ago and $84,797,284 in June 1955.

While four mining companies have reduced their dividend rates, Labrador Mining and Exploration became a dividend payer for the first time.

The six months total of Canadian dividends is $377,070,403 in 1957, $335,455,769 in 1956 and $293,893,080 in 1955.

PROFIT DROP EXPLAINED

Distillers Corporation Seagram increased the price of its products by an average of seven per cent on Jan. 1, and that's the reason, according to the firm, for the sharp drop in profits in the quarter ending April 30.

The net profit dropped from $5,544,185 a year ago to 11,048,484.

During the last quarter in 1956 liquor wholesalers and retailers piled up large inventories prior to the price increase, but these inventories are now being liquidated and DCS expects its sales should return to normal in the near future.

TELEX FOR VICTORIA

Victoria will be hooked up with the new Telex system by about the end of August, according to a report by the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Telegraphs.

The Telex system allows those with teleprinters in their offices to carry on printed conversations with any other Telex member in any part of the world.

Having a special directory of members, users of Telex merely dial the number to make contact.

Telex service is installed by the two Canadian telegraph systems on a service charge basis. Calls are paid for on the exact time used on the wire conversations and there are no "minimum charges" as with ordinary long distance calls.

GAS HIKE FORESEEN

A further round of gasoline and oil price increases appears to be on the way.

Sinclair Oil Company announced yesterday in New York it was raising its gasoline price at the wholesale level by one-fifth of a cent a gallon. Other oil distributors in the New York area said they had price increases under consideration.

In Spokane, Standard Oil Company has added 3/10th of a cent a gallon to the wholesale price of gasoline and other light oils.

The new raise in petroleum prices is believed to be due to increased production costs and higher prices for crude oil in many districts.

U.S. Business Fears Tories May Get Tough

NEW YORK (UP)—American business circles are awaiting with unusual interest and some apprehension the first economic policy statement of the new Canadian Conservative Government.

Since the defeat of the Liberal Government the business community here has attempted to analyze the possible effects on U.S.-Canadian economic relations of a change in administration.

Some trade papers have warned bluntly that the Conservatives will be less sympathetic to U.S. business interests in Canada and might make it more difficult for future expansion.

Diplomatic circles in Washington have predicted a swing back in Canadian foreign policy more in line with Britain and other members of the Commonwealth. It is felt such a move might be followed by a stiffening in Canada's attitude toward U.S. capital investment.

Business sources said that premier-elect John Diefenbaker could be expected to take a forceful stand against some U.S. tariff policies and to retaliate rather than compromise.

They said that there were a number of ways in which the Conservative Government could tighten up on U.S. operations in Canada.

These included "nationalizing" Canadian subsidiaries of U.S. firms to the extent of requiring them to issue annual statements, include more Canadian investors, put more Canadians on company boards and to operate as Canadian firms in all but name.

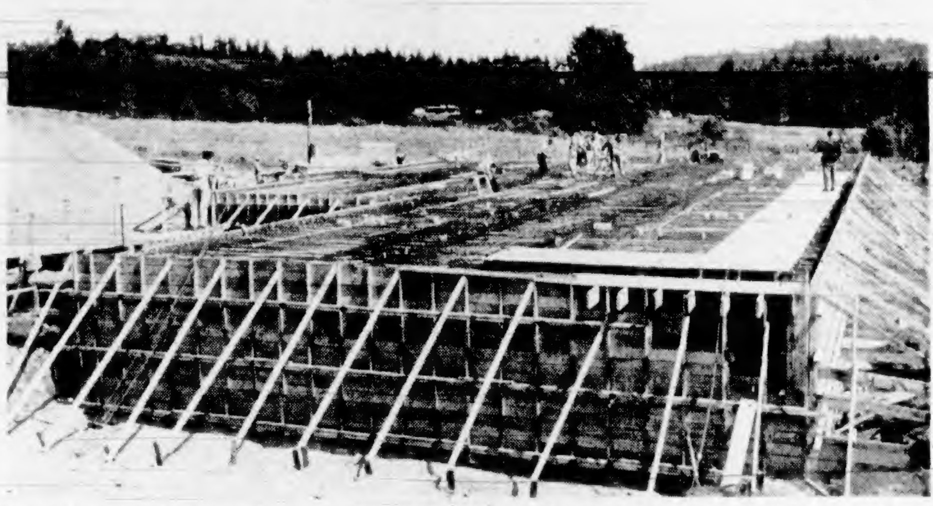
Already in use is the new 32-bed Ladysmith General Hospital which was officially opened in April. The hospital, which can be expanded later by the addition of another floc cost an estimated $274,000.



Gulf Islands residents will be served by this new 21-bed Lady Minto Gulf Islands Hospital going up at Ganges on Salt Spring. The $265,000 project begun in April will also include a 12-bed nurses' and staff residence.

Island Hospital Building Booms

More Beds, Improved Facilities

By PETER BRUTON

Largest hospital construction program ever seen in B.C. is now in progress with 12 major projects to cost an estimated $16,000,000 in various stages of completion.

Another 12 projects, which will cost an additional $12,000,000, are in the advanced planning stage.

Vancouver Island has a stake in the construction program with a recently-opened hospital at Ladysmith, a new Queen Alexandria Solarium at Gordon Head and new hospitals at Campbell River and Ganges in the Gulf Islands.

A serious bed shortage existed in B.C. about 15 years ago but today, as a result of an accelerated program of construction, the finest facilities available are being provided.

VASTLY IMPROVED

A progressive program of expansion has averaged 425 beds a year since the start of hospital insurance in 1949—compared to 85 beds a year built in the 10 years preceding its inception.

Provincial authorities say a total of $24,000,000 has been spent since 1949 on the construction of 2,600 active treatment beds, 400 chronic beds and more than 600 beds in nurses' and staff residences.

The current construction program on 12 projects will provide more than 1,000 new hospital beds and 59 staff beds when completed.

On Vancouver Island the new 32-bed Ladysmith General Hospital costing $274,000 officially opened its doors last April.

READY SOON

Buldozers began clearing land at Gordon Head during the first week of February for the proposed new $827,000 Queen Alexandra Solarium. This 64-bed hospital, for the long-term care of crippled children, will have two large classrooms in addition to treatment and recreational areas.

It is hoped the new solarium will be ready for occupancy in the spring of 1958.

Official opening of the 58-bed Campbell River and District Hospital, being built at an estimated cost of $903,000, will take place this summer. The three-storey hospital has been designed to allow for future expansion.

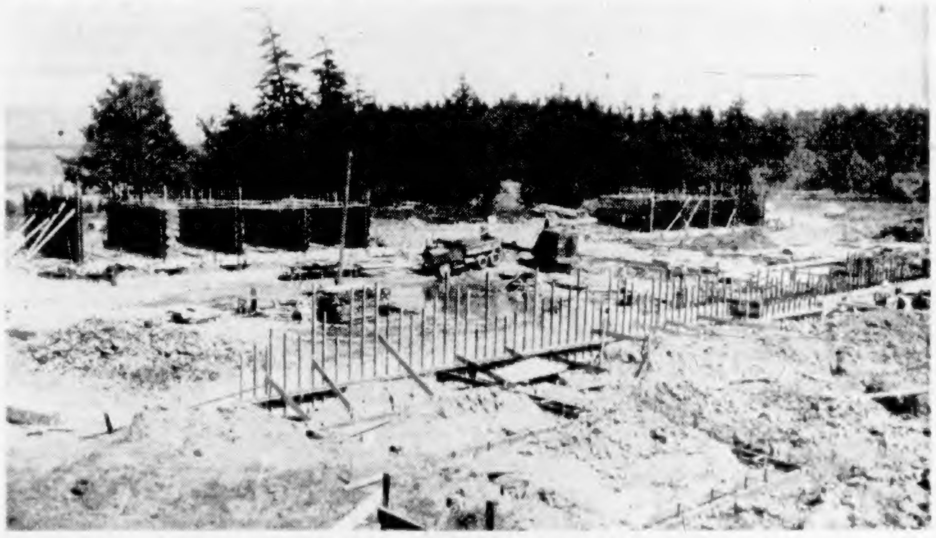
During the early part of April, work was started on the new 21-bed hospital at Ganges and a 12-bed nurses' and staff residence. The hospital, constructed of concrete blocks, will cost $265,000 and will serve the residents of Gulf Islands.

LARGEST PROJECT

Largest hospital construction project to be undertaken in this province for several years started in Vancouver in 1955 and will be completed next year. It is the 504-bed acute wing to the Vancouver General Hospital, costing about $7,974,000.

Other areas participating in the tremendous program include New Westminster, Chilliwack, Haney, Surrey and Vancouver.

The provincial government pays 50 per cent of the approved cost of construction under its grant-in-aid program.



New Solarium Project Grows

Construction of the new 64-bed Queen Alexandra Solarium at Finnerty Cove, Gordon Head, was begun earlier this year and will be completed early in 1958. The hospital, for the long-term care of crippled children, will cost about $827,000.

'Injustice'

Liquor Wrong Cited

Changes in provincial liquor laws were urged yesterday to prevent recurrence of "such an obvious injustice" as the recent fining of a Victoria waiter $300 or 90 days' imprisonment for serving a minor with beer.

A brief presented to Attorney-General Robert Bonner by Victoria Labor Council protested the "discrimination" in legislation which permits such a penalty for the waiter, while the minor involved was fined only $25, and the licencee not mentioned.

"We submit that a minor who breaks the law intentionally by false pretence and deception receives a light penalty compared to that meted out to the waiter who breaks the law unintentionally, the victim of this deliberate deception."

The brief stated that " a busy waiter is required to estimate, quickly and correctly, the age of young men and women; a very difficult thing to do."

"It is obvious that, on occasion and in good faith, he can make a mistake without the slightest intention of breaking the law. A waiter has nothing to gain by serving a minor; he is paid by the hour and not by the number of customers served."

The council brief continued: "We wish to make it guite clear that we hold no brief for a waiter or any other person who, knowingly, supplies liquor to minors. It is, in our opinion, a serious misdemeanor and deserves severe penalties."

Members of the delegation were Percy Rayment, chairman of the council's legislative committee; Jack McKenzie, IWA business agent; E. T. Staley and Victor Midgley, carpenters' delegates; and Alexander Horne, waiters' union business agent.

Centennial Effort

Public Favors Villa for Aged

Public response to a proposal that construction of a villa on land adjoining Kiwanis Village be Greater Victoria's centennial project, has been "very encouraging," Ron Lochhead, a spokesman for the Kiwanis village society, said last night.

The villa would provide accommodation for 74 widows and widowers living on pensions.

An appeal to the public for its opinion of the project, brought 74 replies in favor and four against, he said.

A committee from the society will be present at a meeting of the Greater Victoria Centennial Committee Thursday to answer any questions about the $400,000 project.

Committee members are Mr. Lochhead, Edward Mallek, Reginald Harris, Charles E. Craig and Glenn Hope.

Capt. Wears Gold Coat

Imposing statue of Captain George Vancouver will take its rightful place atop the main dome of the legislative buildings on Tuesday, weather permitting, government officials said yesterday.

The statue was removed earlier this year for cleaning and the application of a new coat of shiny, gold leaf.

School's Out for Some, Rest Have Week to Go

More than 15,000 junior high and elementary school students will start their summer holidays on the afternoon of June 27.

Luckiest children, in the eyes of many other elementary pupils, are those at Margaret Jenkins School in Fairfield who will get an extra week's holiday. The school is closing early to allow contractors extra time to complete an addition now being built.

Mothers, shuddering at the thought of children tracking in and out of the house all day during the next two months, may circle Sept. 4 on the calendar—that's when the children go back to school again.

School is already out for many of the 2,430 high school students in Greater Victoria who do not have to write provincial examinations which started Monday.

The exams will end on June 26 and results will be known in mid-July.

It's That Monday Afternoon Feeling

Saanich council has given first reading to a by-law switching half-day closing from Wednesday to Monday starting in September.

Coun. Joseph Casey told council that a poll of merchants showed that a majority favored the Monday early closing.

Exemptions to the closing regulations include service stations, garages, bakeries, drug stores, confectionaries and florist shops.

Newcastle Deal Unfolds

NANAIMO — City council may consider a $200,000 cash offer for Newcastle Island from Qualicum millionaire A. J. Cleveland, but aldermen want his proposals in writing for careful study.

Recent letter to council provided that this sum would be paid subject to the city arranging for a connecting bridge.

The island would not be developed entirely as a residential area. Mr. Cleveland, himself a yacht owner, is interested in developing a type of "boat motel."

Buyer would allow the city to retain the present picnic area and allow sufficient room for future improvement.

NANAIMO (CP)—Caroner Dr. Henry Lewis adjourned an inquest here Monday when his jurisdiction was questioned.

The challenge came when only five of six jurors showed up for the hearing, which was to have been into the death of Mrs. Lois Christine Doran on June 24.

Crown counsel E. D. Strongitharm said that Joseph Mellor of Vancouver had been arraigned on a criminal negligence charge since the coroner's jury originally convened. He said the Coroner's Act sets out that when a person is charged following a death, the attorney-General may direct that no inquest shall be held or continued into the death.

This decision was reached by the retail division of the Chamber of Commerce.

The full day closing will start July 4, but it will have to be a gentlemen's agreement as the new Municipal Act permits stores to remain open six days a week if local councils pass the requisite by-law. This by-law here is ready for adoption.

PORT ALBERNI — Immediate attention to traffic problems on Third Avenue North will be asked in a letter to the highways minister by Port Alberni council.

PORT ALBERNI — City Council indemnity by-law which received its first reading last week has been held over for another week on request of Mayor Loran Jordon.

The mayor gave no reason for his request to hold up passage of the by-law which would give his own indemnity a boost to $3,000 and aldermen a 100 per cent raise to $1,000.

City Clerk H. D. Thain pointed out that the raise would still leave members of the council with indemnities below the maximum permitted for cities of this size under provincial regulations.

France Next Stop For RCAF Officer

By EILEEN LEAROYD

FLYING OFFICER CICERI

Join the airforce and see the world.

That is exactly what Jean Mary Ciceri did, and next month she is off for a two-year tour of duty in France.

The blue-eyed Flying Officer is here visiting her father John Ciceri and staying with Nursing Sister Marnie Hearn till June 27, then she's away to France on the Invernia and expects to be posted to Grostenquin.

"Its hard to find Grostenquin on the map," said the FO, "but its there all the same, in the Saar Valley and its the base for No. 2 Canadian Fighter Wing."

Actually FO Ciceri began seeing the world before she joined the RCAF in 1955, for she saw a good deal of it during the war when she was a Lieutenant Nursing Sister in the CWAC.

A graduate of St. Joseph's Hospital she went overseas in 1944, stationed mainly in the Canadian plastic surgery hospital at Basingstoke. Later she joined the occupation forces and spent a year in Oldenburg, Germany.

After the war she returned to Victoria and taught nursing at St. Joseph's for three years, later going into public health work in Saanich.

She joined the RCAF auxiliary before going into the regular force and has spent most of her time at the largest RCAF hospital in Canada which is Rockcliffe.

This winter FO Ciceri had a long course in flight nursing in the U.S.

"We have nothing quite like it here," she said, "and we really made some flying time taking the instruction. It was fascinating as we learned how various high altitudes affect patients and diseases. We had three months field work with the Americans, following the basic instruction."

Men's Fashion Show Today at Salt Spring

GANGES—The Salt Spring Island branch of the Canadian Legion held its last meeting for the season in the Legion Hall, Ganges, with W. F. Thorburn presiding.

Greenhough, chairman of the entertainment committee. The commentator will be G. S. Humphreys and the music will be supplied by Mrs. H. S. Noakes. Caricatures of Salt Spring Island people by the artist, P. Ustinov, will be displayed in the hall and later put up for auction. The proceeds will go towards furnishings for the Legion Hall.

The branch will sponsor the dance to be held on July 1 in the Mahon Hall and a number of the members will attend the annual dinner of the Gulf Islands branch, 84, which will be held at Galiano on Saturday, June 22.

CHILDREN'S VITAMIN

Vitamin D, the "sunshine vitamin," is necessary in every child's diet to prevent bone disease.

Strawberries and ice cream, cake and coffee will be served this afternoon on the lawn behind St. Joseph's Hospital Nurses' Residence when student nurses hold their dessert lawn party, opening at 2 o'clock and continuing until 9 p.m. Pictured above are three of the nurses assisting with arrangements, Audrey Dowie, Sheila Boylan and Frances Magee. The party is to raise funds for a students' tennis court. Tickets are available from student nurses, or at the party, and donations may be made at the office of Sister Mary Beatrice, director of student education.—(Photo by Jim Ryan.)

League Presents $26,000 For Solarium Maintenance

A cheque for $24,000, for maintenance of the Queen Alexandra Solarium, was presented by Solarium Junior League president, Mrs. J. Southern, to Mr. W. G. Heaney, president of the board of directors, at the annual meeting and dinner of the League Monday evening at the Victoria Golf Club.

The cheque represented only part of the money raised during the year by the League, through fund-raising activities, including the Mardi Gras Ball, the Farmerette Box Social, the annual Shower of Dimes, and other projects.

Another cheque, for $2,000, was presented by Mrs. A. L. Cox to Mr. John S. Holdstock, administrator of the Solarium, for sundry items, and a cheque for $100 was presented by Mrs. J. Warnock, to Miss M. Bence of the WA for purchase of sewing materials.

Report of the auditors showed net receipts for the year amounting to $26,681.02.

A highlight of the meeting was presentation of the League's first life membership to Mrs. Howard Damaske, an active member for over 12 years. Mrs. Damaske will be given a specially designed pin.

Mrs. Gwen Carrier, newly elected president, accepted the gavel trimmed in league colors of blue and gold from the retiring president.

Others on the new executive are Mrs. Verna Elder, vice-president; Miss [illegible], corresponding secretary; Miss Pearl Ward, recording secretary, and Mrs. Shirley Duncan, treasurer.

In her president's report, Mrs. Southern announced that the league's net total for the year of more than $26,000 was raised mainly by the Shower of Dimes, which netted $19,909; the Mardi Gras, $933; the Victoria Industrial and Agricultural Exhibition for which members sold tickets, more than $1,000, and sale of refreshments at Goldstream, $600 as well as many smaller projects.

Guest speaker was Mrs. [illegible] Stephens, executive secretary of the Vancouver branch of the United Nations in Canada. She spoke on "The United Nations Re-Visited."

Among special guests at the meeting were Mrs. H. R. Hamill and Mrs. L. Dyer, of Thetis Chapter, Vancouver, and Mrs. C. Hunter, Avair Chapter, North Vancouver, as well as members of the board and their wives, and the active medical staff of the Solarium.

Orange Blossoms Worn by Mother

Bride's Tiara 'Something Old'

A tiara of orange blossoms, which had been worn by her mother, was the traditional "something old" in the bridal ensemble of Mary Janet McMillan, when she became the bride of Patrick Lloyd Cummings at a double-ring ceremony in St. Mark's Anglican Church.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. McMillan of Victoria, and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cummings of Whalley, B.C. Canon R. Willis officiated at the evening ceremony.

Her wedding gown was fashioned in semi-formal princess style featuring a beaded lace bodice. The tiara held her shoulder-length veil, and her only jewelry was a pearl necklace with matching earrings. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Her matron of honor was Mrs. L. Arrowsmith, who wore a dress of pale blue nylon with a spray of yellow roses in her hair, and yellow lace gloves. As bridesmaid, Miss Rita George wore pink lace, trimmed with satin bows, with matching gloves and a spray of pink flowers in her hair. She carried pale pink and white roses.

Mr. Ronald Kelassen served as best man, and ushers were Mr. R. Ramsay and Mr. L. Arrowsmith. Mr. F. Morris proposed the toast to his cousin at a reception at Britannia Hall following the ceremony.

For a wedding trip to the Mainland, the bride wore a pale green tailored suit with red accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Cummings plan to make their home in Victoria, where the groom is stationed at HMCS Naden.

James-Yarwood

At a double-ring ceremony performed by Rev. F. E. James in Metropolitan United Church, Pearl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Yarwood, 2705 Sea View Road, became the bride of Brian Montague James, youngest son of Mrs. James and the late Mr. Stan James.

The petite bride was radiant in her ballerina-length gown of fine illusion lace with pleated nylon insets over satin and net. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and lily of the valley. Mr. Yarwood gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss June Yarwood was maid of honor for her sister and Miss Lyn Gay was bridesmaid. They wore gowns of peacock nylon over ice blue satin, ballerina-length, and carried bouquets of pink and white carnations.

Mr. G. James was best man for his brother and ushers were Mr. C. Gay and Mr. D. Newell.

During the signing of the register Mrs. P. Hill sang "Through the Years."

A reception was held at Dulcies, Fort Street, where the toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Douglas Jordan.

The happy couple left for a honeymoon trip to Portland, Oregon. The bride's going away costume was a white bengaline sheath dress and matching coat with pink rose corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. James will reside at 2403 Fernwood Road.

Pedersen-Baker

Now on a motor trip to the United States are Mr. and Mrs. Sven Rose Pedersen, who were married Saturday evening in First United Church.

Mrs. Pedersen is the former Elspeth Isabelle Jane Baker, granddaughter of Mr. George Main, Victoria, and the late Mrs. Main. Her husband is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Pedersen, of Copenhagen, Denmark.

Rev. A. I. Higgins officiated at the 8 o'clock ceremony, at which the bride was given in marriage by her grandfather.

For her wedding she wore a sheath dress of blond French brocade, with matching satin pumps and hat en tone. Her flowers were Rapture roses and stephanotis. She was attended by her aunt, Miss Madelina Main, who wore a dress of wedgwood blue corded silk with matching blue straw hat. Her corsage was of Talisman roses. Mr. Alex Main, the bride's uncle, was best man.

At a reception at the bride's home, decorations were in pink and white theme and the wedding cake centering the bridal table was decorated in Danish motif. Mr. Alex Main proposed the toast to his cousin.

For travelling, the bride wore a suit of Dior blue french jersey cord, trimmed with contrasting blue faille.

On their return to Victoria, Mr. and Mrs. Pedersen plan to live at 1245 Pandora Avenue.

Bacon and Egg Pie A Good Picnic Dish

To my way of thinking it seems not only ungrateful but downright discourteous to postpone using the many interesting recipes [illegible] write or telephone to me but believe me it is nothing more nor less than a postponement. I love having them and they will all be used in due course. To prove the sincerity of these remarks let's earmark perhaps one regular day for running contributed tested recipes much as we do for our question and answer column, shall we? We could try such a section for a time anyway and see what happens in arousing interest in this idea.

Incidentally, if by chance your contribution is for my interest alone, and not for publication in this space of yours and mine, all you have to do is to say so. It seems simply ages since I asked for a recipe for Bacon and Egg Pie and, if you remember, we had a number of kind answers though they all differed vastly. Anyway, this anonymous letter sweetly signed "An old but appreciative reader" came in just recently and—well, I think I'll quote it as the picnic season is upon us . . . "Some time ago you asked for recipes for Egg and Bacon Pie, long a favorite in my family and an excellent dish for lunch, buffet supper or picnics." "No one who wrote to you gave the right recipe." (Those are not my words you understand).

'Being a large family we always make it in a deep pie dish. You will need about a pound streaky rashers and a dozen eggs. Line your dish with bacon then break in five or six eggs being careful not to break the yolks. Sprinkle lightly with pepper and salt and very finely chopped parsley. Add another layer of bacon and on top of that more eggs with seasoning and finish with layer of bacon. Make your favorite pastry, damp edge of dish and cut a strip long enough to encircle the dish. Then roll out enough to cover dish press edges together and finish off with fork to make small holes in centre. Glaze with milk or white of egg if liked. To make it look fancy decorate with pastry leaves or flowers.

'As I have cooked with peat, coke, wood, gas and electricity at various times I can't be accurate about time. But hot oven to set pastry then slow down. The eggs must be set to a pyrex dish is a boon to see. The pie can of course be made in a shallow pie plate when less materials would be used.' Well, very many thanks for having taken the trouble to write all that out for me, my unknown friend.

Next comes a request from a reader about how to make use of mint other than in jelly or mint sauce. She has a profusion of it so wants some suggestions in a hurry. The first is simple but admittedly does not use up very much mint at one time.

MINT BUTTER

For use in afternoon tea sandwiches or on hot biscuits, or canapes.

Into ¼ cup creamed butter blend 2 tablespoons finely chopped mint and 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Color a delicate green with green vegetable coloring.

RASPBERRY MINT CRUSH

(makes about 1½ quarts)

Two cups sugar; 3 cups boiling water; 1 cup raspberries (I wonder what strawberries would be like instead); 1 large bunch washed mint; 2 cups lime juice. Dissolve sugar in the water and chill. Add berries crushed with coarsely chopped mint, also add lime juice and chill two or three hours to draw out flavor. Strain and pour over cracked ice in small glasses and decorate with whole mint leaves.

That is very refreshing on a hot day.

Dare I say I'm still hoping for those wheatgerm recipes several clever readers said they had originated?

TRICK OF THE DAY

From Mrs. H. B. W. of Albert Head . . . To enhance its flavor sprinkle salmon with lemon juice before cooking.

A LOVELIER YOU

By Mary Sue Miller

PORTRAIT OF LOVELINESS. In writing to me so many expectant mothers say they feel left out of the loveliness picture: dowdy and droopy. But there is no need for it. If only a lady-in-waiting takes special care over her appearance.

Better-than-ever grooming keys success. While anticipating, keep your hair extra tidy and sparkling, double up attentions to skin, manicure often and to perfection.

Another move is to highlight your face, and so shadow your figure. It is done with shades of powder base that enrich your skin tone and arresting, high-fidelity shades of lipstick. Too, wear dashes of your most becoming colors near the face. Wear them in hats, scarves, collars or flowers. This portrait pretty you'll be!

Two Outfits For Every Occasion

Queen Chooses Wardrobe

LONDON (UP)—Queen Elizabeth II is having an entire new wardrobe designed for her American and Canadian visits next fall, for it is court etiquette that she must not appear in a foreign country in anything she has worn in public before.

So, while she has more clothes than ever before in her life as a result of visits already this year to Portugal, Denmark [illegible] calling in her dressmakers, Norman Hartnell and Hardy Amies, and her shoemaker, Edward Rayne, as well as milliners and lingerie makers.

Having decided the functions she will attend, the Queen explains her needs and sketches are prepared, several for each suggested outfit, and sent to Buckingham Palace with small swatches of suitable material.

The Queen herself selects the sketch and the material she prefers. Occasionally she will ask Prince Phillip's advice, but not so often now as she did when they were first married.

The Queen's outfitters knew the special rules of royal dressing which must be observed: The skirts long and full enough to permit gracefully getting in and out of cars and carriages. The hems invisibly weighted so no sudden gust of wind causes embarrassment. The sleeves to be cut remembering the white gloves the Queen usually wears. The hats set well off the face so everyone can see the Queen's fea- [illegible]

Fashion is borne in mind but it is not too slavishly followed. The Queen does not copy other women.

Whenever she is to make a public appearance, the Queen has two outfits available and chooses according to the weather. She has suits especially treated to be shower resistant.

She always takes her beautiful wild mink coat with her, a wedding present from Canada.

There is a complete black outfit in the wardrobe wherever she goes although she rarely wears it. It is taken primarily in case news of death in the royal family should reach the Queen while she is abroad.

Garden Notes

Try the Dutch Touch

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Controlling the weeds in the flower beds and vegetable plot seems to be the principal job at the moment, and a never-ending job it is too. No sooner have you turned your back than a fresh crop of weeds springs up, fully grown and ready to start scattering their seeds before you can say "2-4-D."

As a lazy gardener, I have been experimenting for years to find methods of controlling the weeds without too much back-breaking labor, and one thing I have noticed is that the more shallowly you hoe, the quicker the weeds die.

Deep hoeing usually means that the weeds are simply transplanted from one place to another, and if a shower or a heavy dew comes along they have no trouble getting their roots down again.

For hoeing between the rows and between the plants in the row when spacing permits I don't think there is any implement which does such a good job as a Dutch hoe. While they come in several sizes, I prefer a rather small, light one, easier to control accurately when scuffling off weeds which are growing closely to the cultivated plants.

I keep mine razor-sharp by dressing the blade frequently with a flat file and scuffling with this sharp blade just a fraction of an inch beneath the soil surface slices off the weeds without any disturbance to the shallow-rooting subjects in the garden.

One thing which appeals to me about the Dutch hoe is the fact that you work backwards down the row, so you never need to step on the freshly-hoed ground. With the draw hoe, the work is a strenuous chopping motion, and you work forward, trampling all over your work.

* * *

It is possible to make our droughty mid-summer weather work in our favor in the control of weeds. I grow most of my row crops in shallow trenches or furrows in the ground and when watering with the hose it is easy to channel the water into these shallow ditches in which the cultivated plants are growing, leaving the ground between the rows as dry as a bone. Weeds seldom get the chance to germinate in these hard-baked alleys.

There is another advantage too, to applying the water to our cultivated plants rather than sprinkling the whole garden area. Most of us who have to work downtown for a living must of necessity do our watering in the evening and our evenings, even in midsummer, are definitely on the cool side.

Squirting the water all over the whole garden lowers the temperature even more, giving our plants a chill. This is a common cause of sweet peas and many other plants dropping their [illegible]

* * *

I am often asked whether it is a good thing to save the soapy wash water from the kitchen to apply to the celery and rhubarb. This is fine as long as it is really soap . . . the water for soap is a mild fertilizer and insecticide and the scum it leaves on the surface does no harm at all.

Detergents are quite another story, though, and are definitely harmful to plant growth if used in any quantity.

Evangelist Bedevilled

Dictaphone Ignites

Satan Steals Billy's Notes

NEW YORK (UP) — Evangelist Billy Graham, giving a sermon on the subject of Satan, complained last night that the devil was causing him trouble too.

Graham, who ended the fifth week of his New York crusade by drawing the fewest persons to hear him in Madison Square Garden, said that the devil has attacked this crusade."

"I keep a diary and I'm writing down every way that Satan is attacking the crusade," Graham said. "I have to admit he's done a lot to upset it."

The 38-year-old evangelist, who has faced a drastic drop in his nightly audiences since the heat wave hit the east, said that "I don't know whether Satan controls the weather, but he's done what to him must be a good job over the weekend."

"The tragedy is that a lot of supposedly good Christians cooperated with the devil by staying away with him," Graham said.

"At a time like this if Christians don't bring someone to our meetings every night to give them the good news it amounts to criminal negligence," he said.

Last night's audience in the Garden, which has a capacity of 18,500, was 15,500. Graham often has preached to capacity and over-capacity crowds in the giant sports arena since his crusade began there May 15.

Graham's references to the "ways the devil has attacked this crusade" may have meant to include opposition from several religious groups, although he made no specific mention of any. Recently he was attacked in the Protestant lay magazine, "Christian Century," for leading what the magazine called a revival of fundamentalism.

He also has been under attack from certain Roman Catholic clergymen.

Graham said his sermon on Satan has always been one of the most difficult for me to preach.

"It seems he is always trying to hamper my delivery," Graham said. "Today for instance as I was trying to dictate my sermon notes Satan worked against me. The dictaphone caught fire and we had to get the hotel engineers to fix it.

"Then I lost two pages of my notes. This always happens when I give this sermon," he said.

Graham said the fight against Satan is a "continuous fight and a desperate battle."

"Some have been defeated by the devil so many times that every time he comes along now they just sit back and let him take over.

"If a preacher preaches more than 20 minutes you are ready to get a new preacher," said Graham, who usually takes about 50 minutes per sermon. "But you'll spend three hours in a movie or all night looking at TV."

Some [illegible] persons made their "decisions for Christ" at Graham's call at the end of his sermon, bringing the total for the crusade so far to 19,587.

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Elvis Presley's television price is $50,000 a show. His manager, Col. Tom Parker, has turned down $40,000. "We made $321,000 in nine days on our last U.S. tour," said the colonel, who always uses the royal "we" when talking of Elvis.

Next picture for Robert Taylor is "The Law and Jake Wade," another western to follow "Saddle the Wind" which goes to Colorado with Julie London and John Cassavetes. Julie's fiancé, Bobby Troup, will go with her. They keep putting off the wedding. I wonder why . . .

* * *

Jacques Bergerac, Ginger Rogers about-to-be-ex-husband, is waiting one month in Hollywood to hear whether he has the young male lead in "Gigi." Then he'll take off for Paris to remain there. . . . Pat Boone is off to New York again to warble "Bernandine" on some of the top TV shows.

* * *

William Holden will shoot second unit stuff on "Stella" in London starting in July. The rest of the picture with Sophia Loren won't start until November.

* * *

It will be [illegible] for Rex Harrison and Kay Kendall when they tie the knot in Manhattan. They had planned to honeymoon in Hollywood, but with Rexy out of "Bell, Book and Candle" at Columbia here I imagine they will go somewhere else.

* * *

Well, I finally got to see newcomer Jean Seberg in Otto Preminger's "St. Joan," and, to be fair, she is better than the reports and reviews from England. She doesn't quite have the acting strength for such a role, but I think she has a future in films. Richard Widmark as the Dauphin is simply great.

* * *

Yul Brynner will have to do some fancy juggling. He's supposed to start "The Buccaneer" at Paramount four days before he finishes "The Brothers Karamazov" at Metro. Something will have to give.

* * *

Tony Curtis has taken up tootling on the flute. Finds it great for the nerves. His nerves, maybe, but not the neighbors'. Tony tootled to the tune of $250,000 for his role in "The Vikings."

* * *

Cary Grant gets 10 per cent of the gross from "Houseboat" which, I understand, is set again for an Aug. 5 start, with Sophia Loren. Cary's pictures never make less than $4,000,000. So you can figure his minimum profit.

* * *

The swimming pool used by Mel Ferrer and Audrey Hepburn at their rented villa in Switzerland is even fancier than our Hollywood pools. It has a bar under water!

* * *

Mel, with partners Gregory Peck and John Swope, are sponsoring a school for drama at La Jolla. "Michael O'Herlihy (Dan's brother) is running the school," Mel told me.

* * *

Lena Horne's current four weeks and four days at the Cocoanut Grove will be her last cafe date in a long time. She reports for "Jamaica" rehearsals in August in New York. The musical opens on Broadway in October with, she hopes, Harry Belafonte and Sammy Davis Junior. It's a nice idea—if it comes off.

Cornel Wilde, at the screening of "The Lonely Man," brought wife Jean Wallace's two sons by her previous marriage (with Franchot Tone). Plus his daughter Wendy from his previous marriage. Cornel and the two boys all wore red corduroy jackets. Made a fine splash of color.

Vancouver Choir Leaves for Europe

Famed 33-voice Elgar children's choir of Vancouver leaves the mainland city today for its seventh European tour. Choir, directed by C. E. Findlater, will sing in France, Germany, the Netherlands, England, Scotland, Northern Ireland and Eire, returning home in mid-September.

Winning Contract

By Howard Schenken and Richard L. Frey

When partner's take-out double finds you with some [illegible] strength in the suit the opponents have bid, you have three possible courses of action. You may bid a suit as partner has requested, you may bid no-trump, or you may pass, converting the takeout double into a penalty double. Good judgment plays a part in this decision, but there are some helpful guides.

With both sides vulnerable, your partner doubles the dealer's opening bid of one heart. If the next player passes, what do you do with each of the following hands?

♠ 10 9

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

(a) Bid two clubs. You are too weak to leave in the double; a one no-trump response would promise some strength in addition to stoppers in the opponents' suit. The cheapest possible takeout must be made, even though in only a three-card suit.

(b) Bid one no-trump. You have a bit better than the 7-point minimum high-card requirement for this bid, including at least one stopper in hearts.

(c) Pass. This is a penalty pass. You have three sure defensive tricks, including two in the opponents' trump suit. Your hope of making game is slight and your best chance for a profit is to set the opponents.

(d) Bid one no-trump. With one sure and possibly two stoppers in hearts, your 8-point hand is best expressed by the no-trump bid. Holding a small club instead of the ace, however, you would bid two diamonds.

(e) Bid one spade. Four cards in the "other" major, for which partner's takeout double has promised good support, is preferable to a no-trump bid. Depending on the course of the auction you may get a chance to bid no-trump or double the opponents later.

(f) Bid two spades. This jump response is well warranted by your good five-card suit and your [illegible] points, counting the value of your singleton club.

4,000,000 Foreseen For North

MONTREAL (CP)—Canada's northland can support a population of about 4,000,000 persons, Prof. R. A. Lindberg of the University of Alberta, Edmonton, said Tuesday.

In less than 100 years there would be a large city in "that now vacant land." Europeans and Asians numbering close to [illegible] lived in similar latitudes, including the city of Leningrad which lies just south of a comparable area.

Prof. Lindberg said unequalled business opportunities will open up the north, but Canadians must develop the northland."

Raided Club Loses Bingo Equipment

Confiscation of all bingo equipment seized in a raid March 28 on Victoria Bridge and Whist Club was ordered by Magistrate Henry C. Hall in city police court yesterday.

Mrs. Audrey Jorgenson, 5151 Cordova Bay Road, operator of the bingo game that evening, has already been fined for keeping a common gaming house.

Not included in the confiscation order were two pinball games and a ledger book.

Prosecutor Alan Bigelow did not include in his application the pinball games also taken by city police in the raid because there was no evidence that they were in use at the time of the raid.

Magistrate Hall excepted the ledger book because he ruled that Stanley John Trickey, father of Mrs. Jorgenson and operator of the raided club, would need it in preparing his 1957 income tax return.

Mr. Trickey, who testified yesterday as to use of the seized equipment, did so under protection of the Canada Evidence Act. He operates the club in premises rented from the Westholme Hotel, 1417 Government.

The confiscated equipment included a public address system with microphone, amplifier, wiring and five speakers; ball blower and racks, illuminated number panel and switchboard, bingo cards, tickets and other game paraphernalia.

Gale Blew Caesar Off Perch

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—It wasn't Lawrence Welk who polished off Sid Caesar in the war of the ratings. It was Gale Storm, a 93-pound slip of a girl, who blew the top comedian right off the air.

Welk and his champagne music generally are credited with edging Sid's show into limbo, but ratings indicate Gale and her "Oh, Susanna!" troupe packed the knockout punch.

Neither musician nor funnyman wanted to be accused of battling with a girl. While they were working one another over Gale romped home ahead of both. According to the Nielsen ratings Gale topped their shows seven out of 10 times.

Swim officials are confident entries will be received from Jim Park, former Toronto swimmer now living in California, and Greta Andersen of Denmark, first woman to complete the Atlantic City marathon.

These two have the same trainer who has sent for swim application forms. A covering letter mentioned that Park and Greta Andersen had finished one-two in a recent 26-mile swim in Mexico against a strong field.

Premier Pays $10 For a $1 Bill

During an election campaign meeting in Saskatoon earlier this month Premier Bennett said that $1 Alberta treasury notes—"funny money" to most people—were now worth $10 apiece.

Kenneth A. Gordon of Watrous, Sask., took him at his word and issued a $10 draft on the Royal Bank here payable by the premier. He got his money.

"I'll sell it to anybody for $20," Premier Bennett declared yesterday, waving the $1 treasury bill in his hand.

TV TALK
By Bruce Lowther

What's your nomination for the worst program on television?

Personal choices of this writer are This Is Your Life, Racket Squad, Ellery Queen and Blondie. A sampling around the office adds Lolly Too-Dum, [illegible] TV House Party, old movies, Lassie, Queen For a Day, Sheena, Amateur Hour, Love of Life, and some other soap operas, Strike It Rich, West Point, Radisson, Sir Lancelot and in the one-shot category, the Oscar awards.

"This here's a low-budget show. There ain't no good paid script writers, no . . ."

Sad to relate that of the above list only Radisson has already died and Blondie is dying. The rest apparently will be around for a while. Any opinions on the above list or on TV's best shows should be sent to TV Talk at The Daily Colonist.

* * *

Lightweight champ Joe Brown takes on challenger Orlando Zulueta in tonight's fight. Other worthwhile events are Patti Page on U.S. Steel Hour, Disneyland's magic show and the movie "Golden Marie." There's also a movie called "Port of New York," made when Yul Brynner had hair.

* * *

Channel 2 has listed another batch of summer shows whose starting dates will be mentioned in later columns. They are Swing Your Partners, Let's Sing, Summer Camping, Adventure Afloat, Smugglers Cove, Summertime '57, Moonlight Bay and Dorchester Theatre. CBUT also reports it will telecast the B.C. junior golf final at 1 p.m. June 28.

Robert Orchard, CBC script editor in Vancouver, is organizing an actors' and playwrights' workshop to stimulate plays written in and about B.C. He can be reached at 701 Hornby, Vancouver.

According to the Fowler report on Canadian broadcasting there is "nothing objectionable" about sponsorship of a "good" program.

But, said the commission, private stations have poor program balance, a matter presently under study, and "their programming ought to be designed primarily for the benefit of the public.

"If this means sacrificing some advertising revenue then there should be no alternative but to make the sacrifice."

Idealistic but impractical ideas like this make one wonder whether Canada's new government will pay any attention to the report when it finally begins work on broadcasting changes.

Duncan Water To Cost More

DUNCAN—Duncan and district water system will be rebuilt over the next 10 years at a cost of $350,000, with the funds to be raised through a 40 per cent increase in rates.

Application is now before the Public Utilities Commission for the increase. Current household [illegible] and $2.70 a month in North Cowichan. It is proposed to raise each of these rates by $1 a month.

The brief to the Public Utilities Commission says that the city's system is now vulnerable. There is a 10-inch wooden pipe from the pumphouse to the reservoir and the brief says: "If the present pumpline breaks it could leave the city without water."

Peak demand of the system is almost double the pumping capacity, the brief says, and recommends that a new pump be installed and an automatic screen to serve all three pumps.

"The present system without suitable screens is highly vulnerable," the brief states.

The system serves an estimated population of 6,220 with 3,200 in the city and 2,020 in North Cowichan municipality.

Island Plant Opening

Bennett to Push Button

CAMPBELL RIVER — British Columbia's newest source of hydro-electric power, the B.C. Power Commission's Ladore Falls plant, will be officially opened here Wednesday when Premier W. A. C. Bennett pushes the button to send water racing through the turbines.

The plant adds 70,000 horsepower to the 168,000 horsepower now generated at the John Hart plant. Both generating stations use the same water storage.

Wednesday's opening will be symbolic only. One generator has been in operaton at Ladore since last Dec. 29. The second unit went into service in April this year.

Two years in construction, the plant cost $10,000,000 and is fully automatic. Designed for remote control from the John Hart station downstream, the plant can also be manually operated at the site. Daily output is sufficient to supply the average home with electricity for 500 years.

Official visitors to the project Wednesday will also see the huge earth dam at Upper Campbell Lake in the final stage of Construction. This will raise the level of Buttle Lake to provide water storage for the Campbell River generating stations.

Total cost of all the work in progress on the development, including the Ladore Falls plant, is nearly $50,000,000.
